

POPE STUDIES ITALIAN CRISIS WITH SESSION OF CARDINALS

His XI Holds Council at Vatican—Premier Mussolini Dissolves All Catholic Youth Organizations.

BOTH SIDES STOP NEWSPAPER ATTACKS

His Is to Clear Air for Negotiations on Fascist Anti-Church Violence—K. of C. Officer Protests to U. S. Ambassador.

By the Associated Press. ROME, June 1.—Twenty-four cardinals conferred secretly with Pope Pius XI at the Vatican today. The Premier Mussolini consulted advisers at the Chigi Palace, on widening breach between the Italian and the Italian Government.

At the end of the meeting with the Cardinals the Pope directed the editor of the Osservatore Romano, semi-official Vatican organ, to discontinue his editorial attacks on the Italian Government.

At the same time Mussolini passed the word to Fascist editors that they were to cease their anti-Catholic campaigns at least for the time being.

This leaves the field clear for diplomatic negotiations and it was expected that representatives of the two Governments would move immediately to effect an agreement.

Catholic Groups Dissolved. Dissolution of all Catholic youth organizations not directly connected with the National Fascist Party is announced by the Government.

It is expected in some quarters that as a result of the dissolution of the Pope will recall the papal nuncio to Rome, leaving the charge to the Italian Government.

Police prefects in the provinces reported to the Minister of the Interior that all Catholic youth organizations in their territory had been disbanded without incident.

The decree of dissolution was signed last night by Mussolini. It is a no reference to Catholic youth clubs as such but struck at them automatically by directing dissolution of all organizations not attached to the Fascist party.

The brief announcement by the Government showed that dissolution was behind the closing of hundreds of Catholic youth clubs throughout Italy which has been progress since Saturday. It is expected now that negotiations for restoration of the clubs must be initiated by the Vatican.

Article 4 of the concordat, which the Vatican considers is violated by the Government's order of dissolution, is as follows: "The Italian Government recognizes associations affiliated with the Italian Catholic Church, always provided that they pursue their activities in conformity with the provisions issued by the Holy See outside of any political party and under direct control of the hierarchy of the church with the object of propagating and teaching Catholic principles."

Virtually a Confrontation Session. The meeting at the Vatican was usually a consistory such as is held only on extraordinary occasions or for the creation of Cardinals. For two hours the Pope and the Cardinals discussed the situation. Thereafter the order was issued to the Osservatore Romano and another order suspending all religious processions in Italy.

The Pope, it was understood, did not talk. Several of the Cardinals were said to have encouraged continuance of his firm stand.

It was said the Pope told his advisers he had no desire to break his concordat with Italy, but he wished the Italian Government would regard that agreement not as one which could be violated by their party, but as an international treaty subject to the regulations of international law.

If Italy takes that view, it was said, the Vatican will not think of plucking the concordat.

The situation was aggravated Saturday night by the explosion of two bombs near Catholic institutions in Bologna. Though no property damage was done, a carabinieri was killed and two persons were injured. Thirty persons were arrested, presumably Fascists opposed to the church.

Statement by the Pope. The Pope said yesterday in an address to a group of ecclesiastics in

FALL MUST GO TO PRISON, SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO REVIEW CONVICTION

Harding's Secretary of Interior Now Must Report for Commitment for Taking $100,000 Bribe From Oil Man Doheny.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Supreme Court today refused to review the conviction of Albert B. Fall for accepting a $100,000 bribe in connection with naval oil reserve leases when he was Secretary of the Interior under President Harding.

Fall now must report at once for commitment under his sentence of one year in the penitentiary and payment of a fine of $100,000.

He was convicted in October, 1929, of having accepted a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man. The money was alleged to have been brought to Washington by Doheny's son in a "little black bag."

Fall declared the money was a loan from one old friend to another.

Counsel for Fall, in asking for a review insisted the Supreme Court should set aside the conviction because Fall never had authority to make the leases and contracts, and therefore, under a line of court decisions, could not be held guilty under the bribery statute. It was insisted the indictment must be dismissed because persons not authorized by law were in the grand jury room when it was returned. The trial judge's instructions to the jury with regard to its right to recommend clemency also was attacked, as was the Judge's reference to the failure of Fall to take the witness stand.

Fall Takes News Calmly, but Daughter Faints.

By the Associated Press. EL PASO, Tex., June 1.—A daughter of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, fainted today when told the Supreme Court had refused to review the case in which her father was convicted of accepting a bribe.

Fall received the news calmly. Other members of the family, including Mrs. Fall, were greatly affected.

Mrs. Fall met the newspaper man's announcement with the statement, "They are trying to kill us all, but they won't kill me. They are trying to persecute decent people."

Just then Mrs. C. C. Chase, a daughter, entered the room. Told of the Court's action, she fell unconscious on the floor. Mrs. Fall and Mrs. J. J. Elliott, another daughter, worked to revive her, and a physician was summoned.

ROBBER WOUNDED AFTER HOLDUP OF LOAN FIRM

Identified as Same Man Who Took $780 in Previous Robbery at Easton and Hodiament Avenues.

A robber, who had obtained about $500 in a holdup at the office of the Royal Loan Co., in the Wellston Building, northeast corner of Hodiament and Easton avenues, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, was shot and seriously wounded by a St. Louis County Deputy Constable, who happened to be in the place.

The manager of the office, J. E. Fitzgibbon, declared the robber was the same man who escaped with $780 in a similar holdup two months ago at about the same time of day. At City Hospital, where he was treated for a wound in the groin, the robber said he was Paul Daeumler, 24 years old, of Little Rock, Ark., living temporarily with his mother at 715 Talanta avenue, Webster Groves.

Daeumler admitted today's robbery to a Post-Dispatch reporter but there was no opportunity before he was sent to the operating room to question him about the previous holdup.

Deputy Constable Everett Cochran of Central Township, who shot Daeumler, was in the outer office of the loan company, on the second floor of the building, with several customers, when the holdup was committed. The building is a block east of the city limits in the busy Wellston shopping district.

Miss Juanita Kirby, a clerk, and Joseph Katchke, a collector, were in the main office, behind a grill, and Fitzgibbon was in an inner room. The robber drew a revolver as he passed through the lobby and, going behind the grill, directed Miss Kirby and Katchke to raise their hands. As he proceeded into the back room he paused to scoop up the contents of the cash drawers, showing an apparent familiarity with the office arrangements.

"Put 'em up and get out of the cash," the robber said to Fitzgibbon, but he did not wait for the manager to act. Instead, he reached into the open safe in Fitzgibbon's office and took the money from it. Running from the office the robber waved his revolver toward Miss Kirby and Katchke.

Meanwhile, Deputy Constable Cochran, who saw the holdup, had run down to the street and got his revolver from his automobile. He returned in time to meet Daeumler leaving the office. Daeumler commanded him to throw up his hands and fired two shots, which missed. Cochran fired three times and one of his bullets struck Daeumler. Two of the wild shots passed through walls in the adjacent offices of two physicians where patients were waiting.

Cochran resides at 7633 Santa Monica avenue, Normandy.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR BRIDGE AT CHAIN OF ROCKS

John R. Scott, President, Chosen by Court on Application of Trustees Under Bond Issue.

A receiver for the Chain of Rocks Highway Bridge Co., operating the Chain of Rocks bridge, was appointed today by Federal Judge Faris.

Action was taken on an application of trustees under a $1,400,000 bond issue, who said the bridge had asked in excess of liabilities but asked that in view of poor business conditions, a receiver take charge.

John R. Scott, builder and president of the bridge company, was appointed receiver and under a $25,000 bond. The appointment was acquiesced to by the company, which filed an answer admitting allegations, principally the default of a $45,500 interest payment on the bonds due last April 1.

Trustees are the First Union Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago and the Flavel-Robertson Co. of Kansas City, Mo. Reorganization of the company was forecast in April, with the prospect that the $2,000,000 preferred stock and the common stock would be wiped out.

With approach roads, the bridge cost $2,000,000 and was opened to traffic on July 20, 1929. Direct connections with the Missouri State highway system, however, never were made and the bridge has been placed on either Illinois or Missouri highway maps.

Four miles of private road were paved by the bridge company for a connection with the Illinois system at Mitchell and new pavement was provided for a link between Riverview drive and Jennings Station road, called Chain of Rocks drive. The promoters provided a right-of-way and grading.

Preferred stock authorization under a Delaware charter was $400,000, but only $224,000 of that amount was actually issued, going at $90 on a par of $100. John R. Scott and Thomas G. Scott, brothers, were the St. Louis promoters of the bridge and with their friends invested $45,000 and contractors who built the bridge, the American Bridge Co. of New York and the Union Bridge Co. of Kansas City, took 1,000 shares, valued at $90,000, as part payment.

Two engineers took 200 shares of preferred stock in connection with services. Of the no-par-value stock the Scott brothers retained 40,000 and delivered 20,000 to banking houses.

Net earnings for the first year ending last June 30, were only $86,141. Annual interest requirements were $150,639. Net income for the last six months of 1930 was said in a banker's circular, to be $3216 less than for the same period in 1929.

ATTORNEY GETS SIX MONTHS ON PERJURY CHARGE

James A. Ryan Sentenced but His Partner, Joseph C. Hopewell, Is Allowed New Trial.

BOTH CONVICTED OF SUBORNATION

Found Guilty of Advising Wife of Bankrupt Illinois Merchant to Conceal Assets in Testimony.

James A. Ryan, St. Louis lawyer tried with his partner on a charge of subornation of perjury, was sentenced to two six-month jail terms and fined $1000 by Federal Judge Wham at East St. Louis today. The jail terms will run concurrently.

A motion for a new trial for Joseph C. Hopewell, co-defendant with Ryan, was sustained.

Ryan gave immediate notice that he would appeal.

The lawyers were found guilty last Monday when a sealed jury verdict was opened by the judge. Sentence had been deferred for a week.

The lawyers were accused of having advised Mrs. May V. Pearson, wife of a bankrupt storekeeper in St. Louis, to deposit $811 taken from a sale conducted just before bankruptcy, in a St. Louis bank, and to say, if questioned, that the money represented her savings over a period of years from an allowance given by her husband, Mrs. Pearson died this.

Statement by Judge Wham. Motions for new trials for both of the defendants were argued before sentence was passed. Judge Wham, in a statement preliminary to sustaining the motion for Hopewell and overruling that pertaining to Ryan, said:

"Of course the weight of the testimony is a question that the jury has already decided. I believe the evidence in this case is competent, and that there is no question of the sufficiency of the evidence as to Ryan."

"When the witnesses went to the office of these attorneys, as shown in the evidence, they went to deal with Ryan rather than Hopewell. Judge Wham then mentioned two meetings concerning which testimony was offered one in the fall of 1928 and the other in January, 1929, a few minutes before Mrs. Pearson was called to the bankruptcy hearing."

"The evidence, however, is not so satisfactory as to Hopewell," he continued. "The witnesses, when testifying as to meetings in the office of the defendants, referred to persons they had conversations with as 'they,' and specifically named Ryan."

"That the 'they' would apply to Hopewell is only inference and cannot be considered against him. But there was sufficient evidence that Hopewell knew of the purpose of the visit and knew that the testimony given on Jan. 11, 1929, was false."

"If this had been an indictment for conspiracy there would not be much doubt of Hopewell's guilt, but under the definition by statute of subornation of perjury, the person procuring the subornation of perjury must take an active part, not a passive part."

"I would say that Hopewell stood by and in that way consented, but the testimony fell short of showing that he took an active part in procuring either of the witnesses to commit perjury."

Ryan Asks for Leniency. He then overruled Ryan's motion and asked if Ryan had anything to say before sentence was passed. Ryan replied that he had not, but a moment later said: "This is the first time in my life or in my career as a lawyer that I have been in any question of any kind as to my conduct." He asked for leniency in view of his previous good record.

"It is the duty of a lawyer," Judge Wham replied severely, "to see in all dealings with his clients that truth shall be brought forward and falsehood kept out. The ideal of the attorney should be that of truth in all court and private proceedings."

Pending his appeal, Ryan will be admitted to bail.

Both defendants testified and denied the allegations. Ryan said he had known Mrs. Pearson and her husband for 30 years and that they frequently made social calls at his office, but that there was no discussion of business. He took Mrs. Pearson to his bank where the $811 was deposited. Ryan said, without knowing what the money was when Mrs. Pearson complained she could not open a bank account in St. Louis because she was not known here.

STORE OWNER SHOT DEAD BY NEGRO ROBBER, SLAYER'S AID IS KILLED BY POLICE

MINNESOTA PRESS LAW INVALID, SAYS SUPREME COURT

Chief Justice Hughes Delivers Decision in 5-4 Division on State Suppression Statute.

LIBEL LAWS GIVE AMPLE PROTECTION

Minneapolis Weekly Had Been Declared Public Menace; Contested Restriction on Liberty.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Minnesota's "Press gag" law was knocked out today by a five-to-four decision of the United States Supreme Court on the ground that it infringed the constitutional guaranty of the freedom of the press.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the majority opinion. Justices Holmes, Roberts, Brandeis and Stone concurred. Justice Butler was spokesman for the dissenters.—Justices Butler, Van Devanter, McReynolds and Sutherland.

Chief Justice Hughes said that plain constitutional rights of the press had been violated by the attempt of the Minnesota Legislature to impose previous restraint upon publication.

The case grew out of the suppression in 1927 of the "Saturday Press," published at Minneapolis by J. M. Near. Action against the newspaper followed its publication of attacks on the Mayor, the Chief of Police and other public officials. The case of police was accused of illicit relations with gangsters, the Mayor of inefficiency and dereliction, and the county attorney of failure to take measures against the gangsters.

Under the statute in question, an injunction was issued against the "Saturday Press" on the ground that it had made itself a public nuisance through the publication of "malicious, scandalous and defamatory" articles. The statute was upheld by the Minnesota State Supreme Court from whose decision Near took an appeal.

Majority Opinion in Part. In part, the majority opinion said: "The fact that for approximately 150 years there has been at least one free press in this country is not an entire absence of attempts to impose previous restraints upon publications relating to the malfeasance of public officials is significant of the deep-seated conviction that such restraints would violate constitutional rights. Public officers, whose character and conduct remain open to debate and free discussion in the press, find their remedies for false accusations in actions under libel laws, providing for redress and punishment, and not in proceedings to restrain the publication of newspapers and periodicals."

"The general principle that the constitutionality of the liberty of the press gives immunity from previous restraints has been approved in many decisions."

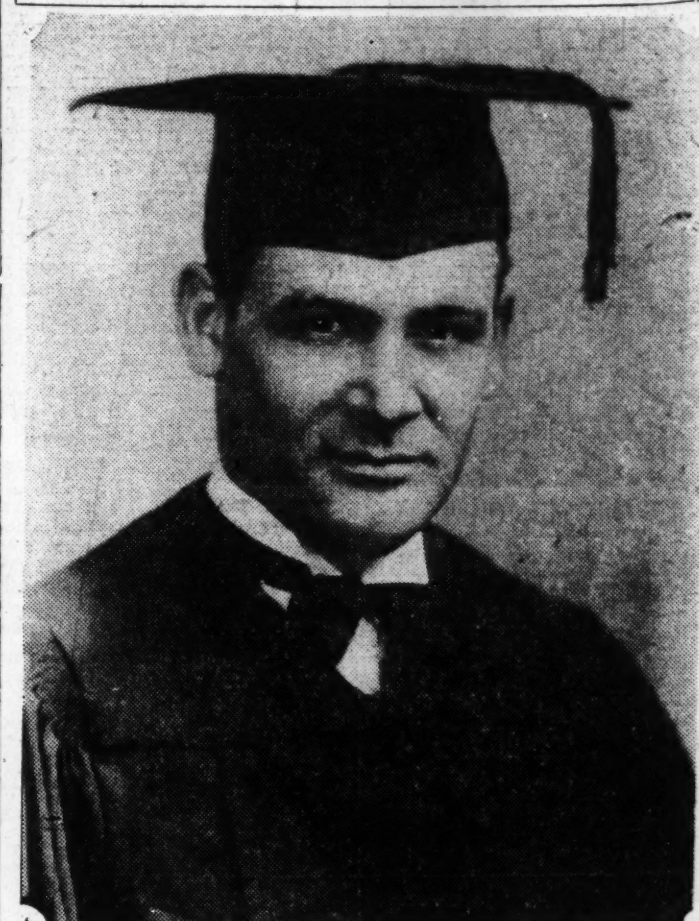

"The importance of this immunity has not lessened. While reckless assaults upon public men, and efforts to bring obloquy upon those who are endeavoring faithfully to discharge official duties, exert a baleful influence and deserve the severest condemnation in public opinion, it cannot be said that this abuse is greater, and it is believed to be less, than that which characterized the period in which our institutions took shape."

"Meanwhile, the administration of Government has become more complex, the opportunities for malfeasance and corruption have multiplied, crime has grown to most serious proportions, and the danger of its protection by unfaithful officials and of the impairment of the fundamental security of life and property by criminal alliances and official neglect, emphasize the primary need of a vigilant and courageous press, especially in great cities."

"The fact that the liberty of the press may be abused by miscreant purveyors of scandal does not make any the less necessary the immunity of the press from previous restraint in dealing with official misconduct. Subsequent punishment is the appropriate remedy."

EX-MAYOR KIEL IS KEEPING BUSY WITH THREE JOBS

Foreman of Two Grand Juries and Arbitrator in Street Car Wage Dispute.

Former Mayor Henry W. Kiel now has three jobs, which will keep him busy in the public interest. They are:

1—Foreman of the June term State grand jury, impaneled today.

2—Foreman of the Federal grand jury, impaneled last month.

3—Union representative on the committee to arbitrate the wage dispute between the St. Louis Public Service Co. and its union employees.

Circuit Judge Green, who selected Kiel as foreman of the State grand jury, commenting on the former Mayor's other jobs, said: "That fellow Kiel is a bear for work, that is why I selected him. His duties on the State grand jury will not interfere with his other jobs. The Federal grand jury has adjourned for the summer, and Kiel will no doubt find time for the wage committee."

The State grand jury meets twice weekly, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, unless special business demands extra sessions.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE WEDS IN PRIVATE CEREMONY

Bridegroom, 68, Who Will Retire From Office June 13 Married at Elysee Palace.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 1.—The official news agency announced today that President Gaston Doumergue and Mme. J. Graves had been married just before noon at a private ceremony in the Elysee palace.

There had been reports for some time that Doumergue, known as the "bachelor president," would be married either before or soon after his term as President expired on June 13.

It was a civil ceremony performed by the Mayor of the Eighth Ward which includes the palace and its grounds.

The President's witness was Jules Michel, Secretary-General to the President. The bride's witness, said a laconic communiqué, was a "friend of Doumergue."

On June 13, Doumergue, 68 years old, will retire from office to be succeeded by Paul Doumer who was elected President at Versailles on May 13. He has served the full term of seven years as chief executive.

CANADA ANNOUNCES 200 CHANGES IN ITS TARIFF

Many Articles Imported From U. S. in List; Purpose to Ease Unemployment.

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, Ont., June 1.—Extensive changes in Canada's tariff schedules, many of the affecting articles derived in large quantities from the United States, were announced today by Premier R. B. Bennett in his budget speech.

The Premier announced adjustments in the duties on automobiles in three classifications.

He also published a long list of other products directly or indirectly affected. The changes in schedules, he announced, were not general, but confined to such schedules as would assist in the solution of Canada's unemployment problem.

In the tariff changes the total of items is almost 200. A feature is the provision for the collection of duty on containers of many articles which enter Canada in packages ready for the merchants' shelves, such as cheese, powdered milk, macaroni, dried fruits and soap.

The more notable increases affect live hogs, fresh meats, bacon, hams and shoulders, shell eggs, cheese, hops, powdered milk, peas, Indian corn and hay; field, root and garden seeds; canned fruit and vegetables; raisins and oranges.

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH IN HOUSTON, TEX., HOTEL

By the Associated Press. HOUSTON, Tex., June 1.—In the presence of many witnesses, Mrs. Marie Hart was shot to death as she sat on the mezzanine floor of the Rice Hotel today.

A man who gave his name as D. E. Covin was arrested. He did not make a statement to officers.

"I didn't dare to reach for my revolver while both of them were there," Capt. Tierney told reporters afterward. "But as soon as the man who had Davis in charge took him around the partition, and I had only one man to deal with, I stepped up to him and swung my left."

"I hit him in the jaw, and swung him around. Then I reached for my gun. He already had his gun, and though he was off balance, he tried to fire. He backed away from me and started for the front door. He pulled the trigger three times, but the pistol didn't fire. I fired at him three times before he got to the door."

Chase Through Railroad Yards. Running out after the man, Capt. Tierney shouted to Shoulders, across the street, who ran over with his prisoner, turning him over to the captain. Shoulders then pursued the fleeing man, who had run west to an alley and back to the railroad yards. In the pursuit the policeman left Davis alone in the store with his captor.

Shoulders began firing at the fugitive as soon as he saw him dodging around freight cars. Pugh, in the yards, heard the shots and saw the feet of the fleeing man.

PLOT TO BLACKMAIL
WILSON
CHRYSLER IS DENIED
Topoka Newspaper Man Says
Auto Magnate Began Negotiations for Story.
By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., June 1.—Richard A. Swallow, member of the editorial staff of a Topoka morning newspaper, charged with an attempt to extort $40,000 from Walter P. Chrysler, automobile manufacturer, has denied the allegation, declaring negotiations for the purchase of a story were started by representatives of the motor magnate.
Swallow, Ralph Ulrich, alias Ralph Chrysler, also of Topeka, and Fred W. Clark, Meriden, Conn., were released on bond following charging of blackmail charges. Preliminary hearing is set for June 12.
Gordon Ross, representative of the automobile magnate, swore to the complaint. Ross alleged that the men sought the money for willingness to hold back a story regarding the late Henry Chrysler, father of Walter P. Chrysler. Swallow, an employee of a morning newspaper, said he had written Chrysler seeking the manufacturer's side of the story he intended a offer to 400 newspapers, but received no reply.
Later, Swallow said, Ross appeared and asked for an estimate of what it would cost to secure pictures and right to the story. A price of $15,000 was agreed on, the newspaper man said. An attorney representing Chrysler said no offer had been made to buy the story.
Clark said Ross twice telephoned him and had arranged a meeting Saturday at a Topeka hotel, where the arrests were made. He said he was to receive one-half the amount paid Swallow for exclusivrights to the story. Ulrich said he was to receive $25,000 for his family records.
PILOT LANDS PASSENGERS
ON WINGS OF BURNING PLANE
Aviator at Copalis Beach, Wash., Badly Injured but Com-pansions Are Unhurt.
By the Associated Press.
COPALIS BEACH, Wash., June 1.—A burning airplane to whose wings two passengers had retreated to escape the flames, was landed on the beach here yesterday by Pilot Lana Kurtzer, Seattle, and ground-looped into the water to put out the fire. Kurtzer was badly burned about the legs, but his passengers, a man and a young woman, escaped injuries.
The three left Seattle yesterday morning for a flight to Copalis Beach. Nearing here, the plane caught fire, but Kurtzer ordered the two passengers to climb to the wings while he made an emergency landing near the water's edge. The plane was badly damaged.

TWO BOYS DROWN,
ONE IN SLOUGH,
ANOTHER IN LAKE
Joseph Danis, 7 Years Old, Loses Life at Wabash Club and Sister Is Rescued by Guard.
WAS WADING OUT TO OLDER BROTHER
Granite City Lad, on Fishing Trip, Was Thrown Into Water When Barrel Rolled Over.
Two children were drowned near suburbs of the city yesterday—one at the Wabash Club Lake at Pergu-son and the other in Gabaret slough, near Granite City—when they got into deep water and were unable to swim. Both were taken from the water a few minutes after they had gone under, but could not be revived.
They are Joseph Danis, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Danis, 8355 Bristol avenue, St. John's station, who was drowned while wading with his 3-year-old sister in the Wabash Club Lake, and Paul Danis, 4 years old, the son of Matthew Danis, Granite City, who fell into the water as he and another boy were fishing in the slough.
A number of adults and children were in the water at the time the club lake when the Danis boy and his sister, Fern, started wading along the edge of the lake. They moved outward toward the point where their 15-year-old brother, Bernell Danis, was swimming.
As they stepped suddenly into deep water, hand in hand, the boy went down and dragged his sister with him. She threw her arm into the air, attracting the attention of Vernon Goldstein, a 19-year-old junior life guard, who was on the beach and who hurried out and rescued her.
The girl was choking with water in her own throat and could not tell of her brother until she was on shore. Other life guards and swimmers then joined in a search, diving in the four or five feet of water where the boy went under, until Jack Gregory of Ferguson, another junior life guard, brought the boy out.
Artificial Respiration Fails.
Artificial respiration was applied for three hours by members of the Pine Lawn Fire Department and a Union Electric Co. crew, with inhalators, until 8 o'clock, when the boy was pronounced dead by physicians, and the body taken to an undertaking establishment.
No other persons were near at Gabaret slough, at 3 p. m. when the Danis boy and another lad started fishing there. The slough, a mile west of Granite City, has at the point where they were fishing, a pontoon pier supported by a large oil barrel. The Danis boy had climbed off the pier and onto the barrel, when it rolled over and threw him in 12 feet of water.
The other boy, fishing on the bank, ran for aid and found two young men who dived for the boy and brought it out. Artificial respiration was applied at the scene and at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, and breathing was once started, but failed after a short time.
Bodies of Two Boys Drowned in Mississippi River.
The bodies of two boys drowned last Thursday when an overloaded raft capsized in the Mississippi river opposite the foot of Meramec were recovered yesterday.
An outing party in a motorboat found the body of Joseph Zielinski, 17 years old, 2214A Indiana avenue, at the foot of Iron street.
Shortly afterwards a fisherman found the body of Edward Melichar, 16, 2243 Indiana, near the foot of Bates street.
The boys were members of a picnic party of St. Francis de Sales Parochial School at Triangle Park, 1010 South Broadway. They had painted the flat-bottomed skiff with olive and blue and had been swimming near the Illinois side of the river. When the boat overturned on the return trip they disappeared before help could reach them.
NEW FIGHT ON CHAIN STORE TAX
U. S. Supreme Court Allows More Time on Rearing Plea.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—H. H.
Hornbroke, Indianapolis, representing Lafayette A. Jackson, chain store owner, who was killed by robbers shortly after the United States Supreme Court had sustained the Indiana chain store tax, received permission today to have 200 days additional in which to file petition for a rehearing in the tax case.
The Court sustained the tax by a 5-4 decision. Jackson's counsel announced last week they would ask a rehearing. The administrator of the Jackson estate was submitted to continue the proceedings.

15-Year-Old Slayer of Policeman BOY WHO KILLED
POLICEMAN FACES MURDER CHARGE
Chicago Coroner's Jury Recommends Youth, 15,
Be Held to Grand Jury
With Two Companions.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 1.—The problem of what to do with a 15-year-old high school boy who killed a policeman confronts Chicago authorities.
Vernor Corry, whose mother, Mrs. Adeline Jones Corry, has been an art teacher in Chicago public schools for 20 years, shot Patrolman Edward Smith to death Saturday with an automatic pistol when the policeman ordered him, his brother, Carl, 13, and Schuyler Pearson, 15, from the swimming pool of John Marshall High School.
A Coroner's jury today recommended the three be held to the grand jury on charges of murder.
An advice of their attorneys, the three youths declined to testify at the inquest.
Judge Mary Bartelme of Juvenile Court said discretion rested with the State's Attorney, as to whether the boy should face a jury in Criminal Court or appear before her. She added there had been instances in Cook County of boys under 17 being tried for murder in Criminal Court and also in Juvenile Court, but that none had ever been executed.
Youth Re-enacts Killing.
Young Corry, who only recently got his first pair of long trousers, led officers to the swimming pool yesterday to re-enact the killing.
He was accompanied by his young companions. All appeared to be unemotional.
The youth told police he had broken into John Marshall School on previous occasions to swim or loot, and confessed he had stolen the pistol from a desk in the school's gymnasium. He is a student in another high school. His parents and his teacher said they found his act incomprehensible.
"While the policeman was about 15 feet away," he recited, "I picked up the gun from my clothes on the bench here, and said 'stick em up!' He jerked a hand toward his hip pocket in demonstration."
"He came up closer. Then he stepped behind a pole, and I saw him move his hand toward his own gun."
Youth Says He Was Shot.
"I walked toward the pillar and fired five shots. He fell once and hit the second finger of my right hand. Then we all picked up our clothes and ran."
His brother and young Pearson nodded affirmatively.
"It's his false worship of sneak thieves and criminals that's making them act this way," said Sergeant Garret Fleming. "They think it's smart."
"Why, when young Corry confessed to have been repeating phrases, 'I beat him to the draw,' and such. He is full of the popular misconceptions about the romance supposed to surround gangsters."
TO BE KISSED BEFORE 2000 ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 1.—Before 2000 midshipmen and hundreds of visitors, Miss Edwina Hanford of Syracuse, N. Y., is to be kissed at the Naval Academy Wednesday afternoon. She has been selected to present colors to Mid-shipman Lieutenant Norman Hall, commander of the Third Coast Guard winner in the annual regimental competition, it was announced today.
Hall, who also is from Syracuse, named Miss Hanford to take part in the traditional ceremony, an integral part of which is the kiss.
The flag-kiss ceremony is one of the exercises at which the various honors won by midshipmen are presented. Hall was a member of the boxing team.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Parts of the body of a man, wrapped in a newspaper dated March 26, were found by a policeman yesterday in an empty lot in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. They virtually completed a body part of which have been found at various times in the last three months.
Dr. Rocco Faraldo, Brooklyn surgeon, said the body was that of a man about 35 years old, who weighed about 165 pounds and was five feet six or seven inches tall and had wavy brown hair. The head and arms were found yesterday.

Experiment in Lower Costs
For Hospital Care Dropped
Plan of Julius Rosenwald Fund Discontinued
After Year Because of Protests
By Medical Staffs.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 1.—The Julius Rosenwald Fund today made public a report describing a year-long experiment in reducing costs of hospital treatment conducted in two institutions in Keokuk, Ia.
The plan, discontinued in February by reason of opposition from the hospital medical staffs, provided a lowered schedule of hospital and physicians' costs. The money was paid the hospital, which turned over the physicians' share. If proper credit references were given, the bill could be paid on the installment plan. The Rosenwald Fund guaranteed the hospitals against loss due to idle beds, paid the salary of the admitting officers and insured all parties against bad debts.
The report, compiled by Miss Mary Ross of New York, says that the hospital administrations favored continuation of the plan, as did prominent business men interviewed. Opposition came from one group of doctors, who urged four reasons: That patients served could have paid more; that the plan served the interest of a small group of physicians as against the others; that it was unfair to physicians in neighboring towns whose possibly patients went to Keokuk for the lower rates; and that it infringed on the doctors' prerogatives by having rates fixed.
Miss Ross says that she found the average income of the families served was $1140 yearly, or $21.95 weekly, and cites hospital records and cost-of-living figures to show that the patients could not have paid more.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN FOUND
SHOT TO DEATH IN AUTO Revolver in Lap of Body in Car Six Miles South of East St. Louis.
The body of an unidentified man shot through the right temple was found at 8:20 o'clock this morning in an automobile on the Camp Jackson road six miles south of East St. Louis. A revolver containing one exploded cartridge and one which had missed, fire was found in his lap.
Letters in his pocket were addressed to R. A. Berthoff, 391 Central avenue, Kansas City, Kan., and had been written by J. M. Farrin & Co., Buder Building, railroad contractors. They related to work on a car cleaning contract for the company and were dated the latter part of May. At the company's office it was said that Berthoff had been missing for about a week.
The automobile bore Kansas license plates and another set of Kansas plates was found under a seat. A farmer told authorities he saw a man walking about the machine at 4 o'clock this morning.
He said he heard no shot.

J. T. MILLIKEN JR.
GETS DIVORCE FROM Wife Receives $10,000 Alimony — He Drops Alienation Suit.
Mrs. Mildred Carver Milliken obtained a divorce from John T. Milliken Jr., son of the late millionaire chemical manufacturer, and restoration of her maiden name, McCloy, in Circuit Judge Hoffmeister's court today. She had charged general indignities. Milliken did not appear to contest the suit.
By agreement of counsel for both sides Milliken's cross-bill will be expunged from the record and a $250,000 alienation of affections suit against his wife's relatives will be dismissed. Milliken will pay alimony of $10,000 in a lump sum, according to his attorneys, Edward W. Foristel and James A. Rector, and in addition $2500 to his wife's attorneys, Patrick Cullen and Samuel H. Liberman, and $1500 for her expenses of litigation.
Mrs. Milliken testified concerning their marriage at Miami Beach, Fla., in February, 1929, and their separation a year ago. Under questioning by Liberman, she said that her husband was inconsiderate of her and impolite to her guests and complained without justification that she was extravagant. Their marital difficulties were told in detail recently in Repositions. Milliken at that time testified he was financially embarrassed but his wife said he had an income of $1200 a month. He charged that she drank excessively and she answered that he supplied the liquor and that she did not drink until her marriage.
Mrs. Evelyn Mulvihill, an aunt, and David S. McCahill, both of Pittsburg, Pa., were character witnesses for Mrs. Milliken. She is the daughter of Mrs. Harriet Flannery McCloy of Pittsburg.
Milliken resides at 4440 Lindell boulevard. His first wife, the former Marion Martin, divorced him in 1927.

TRANSIT REFERENDUM BALLOTS SENT OUT

Chamber of Commerce to Vote on Proposal to Make Local Survey.

The Chamber of Commerce has sent out ballots to its members in a referendum on the proposition: "The Chamber of Commerce should appoint a committee on local transportation to study and assist in the solution of the city's transportation problem." The ballots are to be returned by next Friday.

Accompanying the ballots are affirmative and negative arguments prepared by special committees, as required by the by-laws of the Chamber.

The affirmative argument calls attention to the importance of mass transportation to business, the changes in methods of transportation, and in support of the proposal that the Chamber of Commerce make a study, states: "It (the Chamber) is organized, not for pecuniary profit, but for the best interests of the city. It can, therefore, approach a study and possible solution of this most important problem without bias, prejudice or hope of any pecuniary reward."

The negative argument concludes with the statement that if the Board of Aldermen and the transportation companies should join in a request for appointment of such a committee, "then action might not be futile, as it always has been in the past. But, until it does receive such encouragement, for the Chamber of Commerce to meet, investigate and 'resolute' is a mere idle gesture."

The Affirmative Committee was composed of Luther Ely Smith, Jacob M. Lashly and Bernard F. Dickman; the Negative of John F. Green, E. G. Brinkman and B. P. Owen.

Nautilus Cook Just Squeezes By

FOKKER BACKS WILKINS IN SUBMARINE VENTURE

Airplane Designer Gives Financial Aid — Thinks Expedition Will Succeed.

(Copyright, 1931.)
NEW LONDON, Conn., via radio, June 1.—Anthony Fokker, noted airplane designer, was a passenger aboard the trans-Arctic submarine Nautilus following its dive off Bartlett's reef here Saturday. It was disclosed that Fokker is one of the financial backers of Sir Hubert Wilkins' expedition under the ice to the North Pole.

Fokker, aboard his yacht, Helga, joined the Nautilus at sea after a run from New York harbor. Among those who accompanied him aboard the Nautilus were Mr. and Mrs. Carter Tiffany.

Commenting on Sir Hubert's proposed expedition and the diving operations of the Nautilus, Fokker said: "Traveling around the Nautilus (in his yacht) was one of the most interesting experiences of my life. I have been aboard submarines before, have made an eight-hour run in a U-boat. But I was particularly struck with the expert way in which the Nautilus was handled. Therefore I am confirmed in my belief that Sir Hubert will be successful in this expedition, as he has in all his others."

"In fact, I think a submarine has a better chance to reach the North Pole than an airplane. If something goes wrong with a submarine, it may be conveniently repaired en route. If something goes wrong in an airplane in the Arctic, the chances are the flyers are doomed."

"I know the technique of Sir

Hubert. He relies on the technical skill of others in the handling of machinery. I believe he is particularly fortunate in having so able a submarine commander as Capt. Sloan Danenhower.

"The Nautilus has shown good maneuvering ability and really seemed to be an improvement over the military submarines, with their towers, ralls and other war gear. There appears to be little doubt, with the great Arctic experience of Sir Hubert—if his machinery functions, and I think it will—that he will emerge in the Arctic triumphantly again with further scientific laurels."

TEX GUINAM MUST GET OUT OF FRANCE BY WEDNESDAY

Entertainer Insist She Is Going to Paris; Germany, Austria Likely to Bar Her.

By the Associated Press.
HAVRE, France, June 1.—Texas Guinan will have to leave France by 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, she was informed today. There was some uncertainty as to where she would go from here.

She insists she will go to Paris despite the order of the French Government that she shall not enter the country. Reports that she might take her "gang" to Germany or Austria brought from the Consulates of those two nations expressions of doubt that she would be admitted there.

"We can accept her request for a German visa," said the German Consul, "only if her party can produce a working contract approved by the German Minister of Labor."

Until then we can't say whether she would be admitted or not."

Simmons Beautyrest Mattresses Have Been Sold

SIMMONS BEAUTYREST MATTRESS, nationally advertised at $39.50, is probably the best known and most universally accepted Mattress on the market today. Proof of its popularity is found in the fact that 1,000,000 Beautyrests have been bought since it was first introduced.

Lammert's sell Simmons Products including the Beautyrest Mattress. Our Bedding Specialists, thoroughly experienced in prescribing exactly the mattress best suited to individual requirements, are glad to commend Beautyrest.

Likes and dislikes in mattresses must be carefully catered to if you are to procure Restful Sleep. It is because everybody cannot use the same kind of mattress that the advice of Bedding Specialists is so necessary. There are many factors to consider; for instance, a person weighing 125 pounds cannot expect to get the same comfort out of a mattress built to accommodate an individual weighing 250 pounds. Some people like a hard bed; others prefer a softer one. Some there are who cannot recline long in one position without suffering aches and pains; still others who are tired, nervous, irritable can often trace their troubles to improper sleeping equipment.

With the co-operation of leading physicians Lammert's have developed an Anti-Allergin Mattress especially designed to relieve hay fever, asthma, and other ailments of that nature. It is remarkable the number of people subject to asthma who have obtained relief by changing to Lammert's Anti-Allergin Mattress.

Inasmuch as we spend one-third of our lives in bed, and because of the vital necessity of Restful Sleep to fit us for our daily tasks, the bedding we use should be chosen carefully. Let Lammert's Bedding Specialists confer with you on your sleeping problem. There is no obligation, of course.

U. S. TREASURER JUST A BOOKKEEPER, HE SAYS

Walter A. Woods, In Address Here, Praises Mellon and Ogden Mills.

Walter O. Woods, Treasurer of the United States, spoke to the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon today at Hotel Statler, on "United States Treasury Financial Operations." His address was in part a description of Treasury methods, and in part a eulogy of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Under-Secretary Ogden L. Mills. He credited them with "a very wonderful accomplishment" in operating the department "so economically and so effectively."

Maj. Woods is a native of Carlisle, Ill. His signature appears on the lower left-hand corner of currency bills. He explained, however, that he had only ministerial duties, and that all questions of policy were decided by the Secretary of the Treasury.

"While the Treasurer of the United States issues and circulates the currency, honors the matured bonds, pays the accrued interest and cashes the checks," Treasurer Woods said, "his task is really that of a bookkeeper, custodian and accountant. He has much to be responsible for, but the decisions that control our financial policy are the prerogative of the Secretary alone."

Two Great Revenue Sources.

Maj. Woods spoke of the two great sources of revenue, the income and corporation tax and the customs tax, or tariff on imports.
 The former, he said, produces about 70 per cent of the revenue, the latter about 20 per cent and the tobacco tax and other miscellaneous taxes the other 10 per cent.

"The income tax," he said,
 "levied on an increasing scale according to the ability to pay, observes more than any other tax the principle that a tax should be laid on his best able to bear it."

"The import tax, being direct, is not perceptible to us, for we pay it currently in our purchases. Our import tax for several years has been producing about $2,000,000 daily in revenue. The present year is abnormal, and it will not be that much during the present fiscal year."

Telling of the transactions of the Treasurer with the banks, Maj.

 Woods said:
 "An average of 100,000 checks and something like $10,000,000 in currency comes in from the banks daily. You will appreciate the excellence of the Treasury system when I tell you that the clearance is accomplished in due course. That assertion is not self-praise, for clearance within due course rules was an accomplishment in the Treasurer's office prior to the present Treasurer becoming responsible for the clearance. You businessmen know the danger of a bank not clearing in due course. You can well appreciate the gratification of the department that the Treasury clearings have reached the due course goal. It is accomplished every day in the Treasurer's office."

Confidence in Currency.

The system of production and classification of paper currency was described, and the fact that the five different classes of paper money are accepted with equal readiness was cited as an evidence of public confidence. This confidence, he said, is further shown by the ready sale and high price of all Government interest-bearing obligations.

Refinancing of Liberty Loans, under Secretary Mellon, and five reductions of income tax rates were instances as showing that "the nation's finances must have been wonderfully well financed for $8,000,- 000,000 to have been paid off, and the interest aggregate to have been reduced by $400,000,000 a year since July 1, 1921. Eight billions of our war cost has been discharged," he said, "and the taxpayer has been released of his interest burden to the extent of $1,- 250,000 a day in interest charges."

"It is of first importance," Maj.
 Woods continued, "that the President have the best trained financiers in the country at the helm to handle the national finances. In having Mr. Mellon in charge, the country has the services of the man who for years was the leading banker of Pittsburgh. He has been probably the most successful banker our country has produced.
 His knowledge of the money market and the bond market is second to no other financier in the country. It also seems proper to call attention to Ogden L. Mills, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mel-lon's chief adviser. He is at the Secretary's elbow and his advice and his constant assistance is the Secretary's chief reliance. He is said to be the best informed tax man in the country. Mr. Mills is a man of remarkable capacity for work, and is possessed of great ability as a financier. He understands the Treasury problems and it is to him that the bureau chiefs look for guidance. Their hard problems are submitted to him for solution, and his decisions are always soundly based."

"It seems proper to remark that the taxpayers have cause for gratification that the two officials referred to are willing to serve to the capacity they are now giving their time and attention to. Both are men of independence, in the sense that salary is of no consequence to them. No one but the Government could procure their services, for no salary, however great, would be attractive to them.
 The desire to be of benefit to the country clearly is the cause back of their willingness to cast their present burdens of responsibility."

SAVING OF $1,196,000 IN WORK ON SEWERS

Economy in Reconstruction
Due to Application of Mortar
Under Pressure.

Modern methods employed in the reconstruction of old sewers and sewer outlets along the Mississippi River in St. Louis have made possible savings which provided $1,196,000 in work not contemplated in the original program.

This was reported to Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks today by Ernest Paffrath, Assistant Sewer Commissioner, in charge of the reconstruction. To Paffrath was allocated $2,850,000 of the $3,000,000 sewer item of the 1923 bond issue, the balance being devoted to another department building new sewers.

In all other items of the bond issue so far carried out, the savings either have been small or the undertakings cost more than the bonds provided. Paffrath is the first city official to be able to report a substantial saving.

Use of the gunite method of mixing and applying concrete mortar through hose under air pressure is the chief factor that has made possible the saving, Paffrath said. When the work got under way seven years ago there was no precedent in any city for so large a program of sewer reconstruction and pioneering was necessary. Old methods, Paffrath went on, would have required more money than was available, and in many cases replacement rather than reconstruction would have been indicated.

Many Built Crudely.
Many of the sewers were crudely built originally. Due to the use of hand labor, their beds, or flow lines, were irregular, and pockets of water resulted, which eventually were large holes. Weakened brick arches would collapse and then the side walls would wash out.

The additional sewer work done with the money saved is: Rock Creek Public Outlet Sewer (appropriation to start this is pending), $185,000; Eastern Rocky Branch, $426,101; Middle Street Public Relief, $400,000, and Blenden Place Public Relief, $175,000. After paying for these and all the other work that has been done, there is a balance in Paffrath's fund of $1,091,179, to be used as follows: Downtown sewers, $500,000; miscellaneous sewers, $491,179; river outlets, $100,000. The assistant said the estimates for these were generous, and even more work might be done.

Two jobs are under way now—the $44,386 Rocky Branch Sewer and the $44,292 Vandeventer Avenue Sewer. The majority of old main line sewers already have been reconstructed. The report covered expenditures in detail.

MAYORS SAMPLE BURGUNDY WINE; PORTER AGAIN BALKS

Visitors Hear Virtues of Famous Vintage Extolled by Dijon's Executive.

By the Associated Press.
DILON, France, June 1.—America's visiting Mayors have met the celebrated wines of old Burgundy and found that the proof of the vintage is in the sipping.

Mayor Gaston Gerard received the visitors and their wives at City Hall yesterday and made an address in which he extolled the wine grapes of this section, famous for its sparkling red and white Burgundy.

"Remember," he said, "that we are in a wine-growing country, whose fermented products are the least harmful in the world for the human system. As you go around, just look at our Burgundy peasants, who have drunk wine all their lives, and see how healthy, hearty and long-lived they are."

Pointing to a table laden with golden goblets of wine he continued: "There are other things to drink on this table but I hope they will not be used."

The visitors accepted his invitation except Mayor John C. Porter of Los Angeles and Mrs. Porter. Porter quipped his thirst with ice water and Mrs. Porter with orangeade.

The Entertainment Committee had been reported as considering serving only water here.

28 ARMY PLANES TO FLY OVER ST. LOUIS TOMORROW

Bombers on Way to Kelly Field,
Tex.; Other Units to Pass Through Today.

Twenty-eight planes of the Seventh Bombardment Group, returning to Kelly Field, Tex., from the air corps maneuvers, are scheduled to fly over the city tomorrow afternoon on their way from Scott Field to Lambert-St. Louis Field.

The bombers, manned by 70 officers and enlisted men, are due at Scott Field about 10 a. m., coming in from Cincinnati. The maneuvers over the city will take place at 3 p. m. The planes will stop overnight at Lambert Field, setting out for Texas Wednesday morning.

Several other units returning from the maneuvers are due here today. The groups include the Fifteenth Observation Squadron of Scott Field, the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service, Missouri National Guard, stationed at Lambert Field, and attack, pursuit and bombardment ships from the Pacific Coast.

ADMIRAL BYRD'S DOG BURIED
Son Aids Explorer at Interment at Dedham, Mass.

By the Associated Press.

DEDHAM, Mass., June 1.—Iglou, the fox terrier which accompanied Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the Antarctic, was buried here yesterday while Byrd and his son, Richard Jr., stood beside the grave. The interment was in Pine Ridge Cemetery, a burying ground for animals, on a site overlooking the winding valley of the Charles River. As the white, satin-covered box was lowered into the grave the son of the explorer, whose playmate the dog was, dropped sprays of sweet peas upon it. After the grave had been filled in, the Admiral placed a wreath of white roses over it.

RIDE OF JOAN OF ARC

AT ROUEN RE-ENACTED

More Than 1000 Persons, Representing Medieval Times, Take Part in Parade.

By the Associated Press.

ROUEN, France, June 1.—St. Joan of Arc, represented by a young girl of Rouen, yesterday rode through the streets of this ancient capital of Normandy, scene of her martyrdom. She rode to the blast of trumpets and cheers of the descendants of the French whom the warrior-maid of Lorraine freed from British rule five centuries ago.

A cortege, in historic costume, revived the scene of King Charles VII's triumphant entry into his "Good City of Rouen."

More than 1000 persons participated—Knights in armor, archers and halberdiers, and goldsmiths, weavers, wood carvers, spinners and other skilled artisans. About Joan were grouped horsemen representing her principal lieutenants in the sieges and battles. Mlle. Brebant represented the heroine for the day.

The commemoration began with a solemn high mass in the great cathedral. Five Cardinals, headed by Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster and Catholic primate of England, specially designated by Pope Pius XI as his legate, occupied thrones near the high altar.

Nearly 50 Archbishops and Bishops were in attendance.

The cathedral was decorated with its famous Aubusson tapestries, hidden during the war for fear of bombardment or capture, and only recently restored and repaired.

RIDES NIAGARA FALLS RAPIDS THIRD TIME; WON'T TRY AGAIN

River Boatman "All Washed Up on Racket" Because He Made No Money.

By the Associated Press.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 1.—William (Red) Hill, a river boatman, has ridden the dangerous Niagara rapids for the third time. He nearly lost his life in a three-hour spin in the whirlpool, was somewhat bruised, and crawled out of his oaken barrel to tell the world he was "all washed up on the racket," because he made no money out of the trip.

The long spin in the whirlpool forced him to make the trip in two sections. He completed the ride yesterday, after getting as far as the whirlpool Memorial day. There his son, William Jr., 17 years old, pulled him out after his barrel had started to fill with water. It had swirled around the pool seven times.

The ride yesterday ended in a similar long bobbing about while rowboat after rowboat vainly bucked the cross currents off Queenston, Canada. A power boat finally reached the barrel, and Hill went ashore, "glad to get out."

Flying Guardsmen Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 1.—Two Indiana National Guard flyers were injured in the mountains near here yesterday when their plane crashed in an attempted forced landing, the result of unfavorable flying weather. Capt. Matt Carpenter and Sgt. Ira Lee were brought to a hospital here suffering from lacerations of the head. The plane came down in a tree on a golf course and was badly damaged.

SAGE BOARD REPORTS ON COAL SURPLUS

Condition World-Wide, It Says —Organization of Workers, Operators, Urged

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 1.—A report of the Russell Sage Foundation, made public today, says that "so long as a large part of the coal industry of the United States remains disorganized in its human relations, there can be little co-operation in the elimination of waste and the conservation of coal."

This conclusion was reached by the industrial studies department of the Foundation after examination of the administration of agreements between miners and operators organizations during the last 30 years.

The Foundation's announcement says the report analyzed 10,000 disputes in the coal mines and the methods of settling them through joint conference and arbitration.

The report states that neither the economic problem of the coal industry as a whole, which it says is complicated by traces of communistic agitation, nor the dissension within the United Mine Workers, can be dealt with effectively until both miners and operators are so organized as to be able to function together in consideration of their joint interests.

"Miners and operators must find a way to adjust their differences in the light of their responsibility to the consumer," Mary Van Kleeck, director of the industrial studies department of the Foundation, says in a preface to the report.

"Throughout the world the output of coal exceeds the demand, as a result, relations between nations and between employer and employee in the industry are strained often to the breaking point, with strikes frequently ensuing. The public in the end pays higher prices for all products into which the uses of coal enter and suffers besides the inevitable results of friction between groups in industry. Meanwhile, a great national resource essential to economic life, is wasted."

The study was made by Louis Bloch, now statistician for the department of industrial studies of California. It was confined to the central competitive field which includes the mining regions of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, where the Foundation says, the machinery for agreements between operators and miners has been most highly developed. Illinois was chosen for intensive study, the report says.

Bloch's final conclusion was the "giving coal miners a share in the management of coal mines, in regard to their working conditions, yields the direct benefit of a freer, more satisfied and, therefore, more efficient body of workers."

Concerning collective bargaining, the report says some miners declare that the officers of their organizations who handle disputes for them are inclined to "throw the case away" in order to ingratiate themselves with the operators. This suspicion, while it may be well grounded in rare cases, seems unwarranted the report stated.

HARVARD ANNOUNCES COURSE IN PRISON ADMINISTRATION
Work Will be Under Direction of the Institute of Criminal Law.

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 1.—A training course for professional administrators of penal and correctional institutions and similar agencies was announced yesterday by Harvard University.

The Institute of Criminal Law of the Harvard Law School, an organization devoted primarily to research in the fields of criminal law, procedure, crime and its treatment, is to undertake the project, the first of its kind under the direction of any law school in the country.

The projected curriculum covers two years of theoretical and practical work and is to consist of pertinent courses at the law school and in other departments of the university. The first class, limited to a small group of selected college graduates, whose records are especially promising of success in the field of correction, will start study in the fall.

An advisory committee will include Roscoe Pound, dean of the law school, and Prof. Francis B. Sayre, director of the Institute of Criminal Law and son-in-law of the late President Wilson.

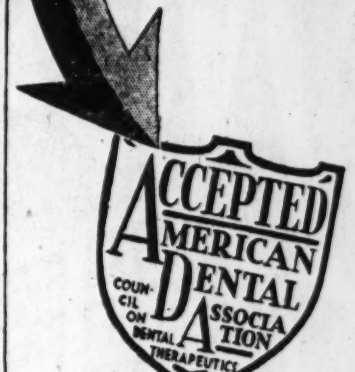

ALLEGED KILLER CAMPAIGNED FOR JUDGESHIP FROM JAIL
Los Angeles Ex-Deputy Prosecutor Held in Murder of Politician—Magazine Editor.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 1. While the State seeks to hold David H. Clark for trial for the slaying of Charles Crawford, politician, and Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, Clark is urging voters to name him Municipal Judge in an election tomorrow.

Crawford and Spencer were found shot to death in Crawford's office the afternoon of May 20. Gang leaders were immediately questioned. Several hours after the shooting, Clark, a former Deputy Prosecutor, surrendered to District Attorney Byron Fitts.

Carlyle (Ill.) Man Dies of Burns.
CARLYLE, Ill., June 1.—Emil Therman, 26 years old, died yesterday as a result of burns suffered May 19, when a coal oil stove exploded in the carpenter shop of his brother-in-law, F. H. Robison. Robison, who also was burned, is in serious condition.

The Railroad of a Great Empire

A Message from
L. A. Downs, President
Illinois Central System.

The Illinois Central System is producer of transportation service for a great inland empire, the economic heart of the United States.

Fourteen states with a population of 38,500,000 and with 56,900 industrial plants having an output of $18,300,000,000 a year constitute this empire.

This empire produces one-third of the cotton, three-fifths of the grain, one-third of the tobacco, nearly all the sugar cane, one-half of the livestock, three-tenths of the lumber, one-third of the coal and seven-tenths of the iron ore that are produced in the country.

Serving this great empire day in and day out—hauling its freight, carrying its passengers, contributing to its up-building—is the task to which the Illinois Central System is committed.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

John A. Downs
Chicago, June 1, 1931.

This is the first of a series of sketches descriptive of this railroad. Others will follow, telling about its properties, its owners, its personnel and its patrons.

SAYS RENO IS BUILT UPON BROKEN HOMES

Judge Calhoun Assails Nevada's
Six Weeks' Divorce Law
in Radio Talk.

A lawyer blamed the "medieval divorce policy" of some states for the "Reno idea," which a Circuit Judge declared a menace "to the orderly progress of society, the welfare of our people and the growth and development of our nation," in yesterday's Community Forum broadcast by KMOX.

Circuit Judge Calhoun called the Nevada requirement of six weeks' residence "a sham and a fraud," and said he understood a witness to affirm it might be obtained for $10, or apartment house and hotel managers would give the testimony on consideration of a six-week paid lease.

Remarking that even persons of good reputation seemed influenced by lax laws to "live a wild life" in Reno, he continued, "They practically support the golf club, maintain the speakies, and are largely, if not wholly, responsible for the vice and sin in Reno."

City Built on Broken Homes. "Furthermore, the doctrine of comparative rectitude is recognized under the Nevada law. Under this doctrine, the party least at fault is entitled to a decree. In other words, if the plaintiff has only committed adultery six times and the defendant 10 or 12, she would be entitled under such a law to a decree. No wonder so many divorce seekers cut loose when they get to Reno, when all they have to do is to make the other party a little blacker than themselves, and their case is won."

"A Reno divorce can be had for any one of eight causes, but extreme cruelty furnishes more business than all the rest put together. Under this allegation Mrs. Dryden Kusar got a divorce because her husband criticized her dress and once scolded her for being extravagant. Another lady got a divorce where the only evidence of extreme cruelty was a disagreement with her husband about the kind of necktie he desired to wear.

"The Nevada law has corrupted the morals of its reputable citizens, has reaped huge profits for the gambler, divorce lawyer, resort keeper and the lawless, has built its largest city, Reno, upon homes broken for trivial causes and allowed its justice to be sold for a price."

"Medieval Divorce Laws,"

Leighton Shields, attorney, cited that the largest groups of applicants for Reno divorces came from New York, where the only grounds recognized were adultery, insanity or disappearance for five years, and that the other states with "medieval" divorce restrictions sent citizens to Reno in direct ratio to the severity of their laws. Missouri is not one of them, he said, since, except for the residence requirement, Missouri regulation were as liberal by judicial interpretation as Nevada's by statute.

"A medieval divorce policy of these states is the father of Reno," he said. "Change and liberalize this policy and Reno will have no attractions to offer. Maintain it and Reno remains a challenge for thoughtful consideration."

Miss Marguerite Neumeier, director of the Jewish Community Center, told of one divorce which cured the tempers of husband and wife and enabled them, at sufficient distance, to begin actually liking each other, and the children to love the father, who no longer had to fear. Another, she related, ended in the mother—unable to support the children by scrubbing floors at $15 a week—sending them to the father, who had already taken one son and taught him to hate her.

"The social worker's viewpoint is that when family life has failed, divorce is a plan to be tried, a last resource to be used," she said. "It must be based on individual need of husband, wife and children, and, so far as the community goes, its responsibility is to urge minimum standards for granting divorces in order to protect and foster family life."

Flyer Hurt in Autogyro Crash. SHERBURN, Yorkshire, England, June 1.—Flight Lieut. H. M. Schofield, member of the British Schneider cup team of 1927, was severely injured yesterday when the autogyro in which he was giving a demonstration at the Yorkshire Aero Club crashed from an altitude of 70 feet before a large crowd. The machine was banking guest of wind and the motor when it was caught by a sudden stall.

TO FIGHT TERMINAL'S TRUCKING CONTRACT

Two Organizations to Attack Before I. C. C. Exclusive Deal With Columbia Co.

The Association of Team and Truck Owners will join the St. Louis Shippers' Conference Association in opposing the contract between the Terminal Railroad Association and the Columbia Terminals Co., giving the latter the exclusive business of hauling less than carload freight from on-track to off-track stations, and limiting the off-track stations to those owned by Columbia Terminals.

A hearing on the matter is set for Friday before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. At that hearing W. E. Rosenbaum will represent the Shippers' Conference Association, and Paul Versen the Association of Team and Truck Owners. The Chamber of Commerce also will be represented, through Attorney Glendy H. Arnold, on the question of the allowance by the railroads to shippers for direct delivery to and from on-track stations. The present allowance is 2 cents a hundred pounds and the shippers and Chamber of Commerce are seeking to have this increased.

Meanwhile the off-track freight stations owned by the Central Transfer Co., which it is proposed to abandon under the new contract, will continue in operation for the handling of railroad freight. By existing schedules these stations are designated as stations to which railroad rates apply. A new schedule changing this situation cannot become effective in less than 30 days after filing and then must have the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The new schedules have not been filed, but it is expected they will be filed this week.

Hearings on this matter were held in St. Louis two years ago and the general principle of a contract by the Terminal Association with only one trucking firm was approved. Later a cost study was ordered as a basis for fixing the rates to be charged for the drayage business.

ADMITS GASSING CHILDREN BUT NOT BAYONETING WIFE

Portland (Ore.) Jobless Man Stabbed Woman to Death in Driveway, Neighbors Say.

By The Associated Press. PORTLAND, Ore., June 1.—Police today said Ira H. Ormond, 38 years old, an ex-sailor, accused of slaying his wife and two children, had admitted that he put the children to bed Saturday night and then asphyxiated them with illuminating gas. He said he could not remember stabbing his wife to death with a bayonet as was charged. Officers think Ormond's motive was a wish that his wife, a restaurant employee, stop working, though he himself was unemployed.

The victims were: Mrs. Helen Salanda Ormond, 36; Ira Ormond Jr., 3, and Jean Ormond 6. Ormond alluded several times to alleged threats made by his wife against himself and the children. Police said they were unable to substantiate these statements.

Neighbors told police they were awakened about 2:30 a. m. by Mrs. Ormond's screams for help. They said they saw Ormond chase her across a street and stab her with a bayonet after she fell in a driveway. Twelve stab wounds were found in her body. The bodies of the children were found under a gas range which had all jets open.

CLEMENS A. POELKER DIES

Nephew to Conduct Funeral of Hardware Dealer Wednesday.
 Clemens A. Poelker, a hardware dealer at Nineteenth and Benton streets for 21 years, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Poelker, who was 82 years old and lived at 1926 Benton street, was born in Germany, coming to St. Louis from Aviston, Ill., in 1876. For 25 years he was in charge of cooperation for the Anchor Line Steamship Co. He is survived by four sons and three daughters. Funeral services will be conducted from the residence to St. Liborius Church Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock by his nephew, Bishop Henry Althoff of the Belleville Catholic diocese. Burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery.

COL. P. H. CALLAHAN

GETS NEWMAN AWARD

Illinois U. Foundation Honors Kentuckian for Work in Human Relations Field.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 1.—Col. Patrick H. Callahan, of Louisville, Ky., has been presented the Cardinal Newman award for 1931, Dr. John A. O'Brien, director of the Newman Foundation at the University of Illinois, announced today. The award is given annually to some citizen of the United States who has rendered outstanding contribution to science, literature, education, statesmanship, philanthropy or humanitarianism. There will be no public presentation as in other years, due to the inability of Col. Callahan to be present.

Col. Callahan was selected because of his distinguished contribution in the field of human relations. He was chairman of the Knights of Columbus Commission for the Investigation of the Causes of Religious Prejudices, which spent two years in an extensive study of this problem. He was selected as national chairman of the Knights of Columbus Committee on Activities during the war. Following the war, he was appointed by President Harding to represent the United States at the World Conference on Alcoholism, held at Geneva.

For many years Col. Callahan has been active in the cause of world peace and is now serving as a member of the National Executive Committee of the World's Alliance for Friendship. In addition, he is a member of the Catholic Association for International Peace. He has been active in the cause of charity and is now serving as vice president of the National Catholic Charities Conference.

The citation of his selection for the Cardinal Newman award says he was named because of "his outstanding example of civic service, in working with signal success to bring about better relations between different racial groups, to eliminate religious prejudices, to foster international friendship, and most especially for his practical demonstration during the industrial depression of the possibility of stabilizing employment and wages, in as much as each employee is a special partner in the business of the Louisville Varnish Co., by which partnership permanence of employment is assured at living wages, with a share in 50 per cent of the profits of the company each year, without, however, a share in the losses of a lean year."

For his work in the cause of world peace, Colonel Callahan was honored by Pope Pius XI, in 1922, with the Order of the Knights of St. Gregory. Last year the Cardinal Newman award was given to Dr. David Kinley upon his retirement as president of the University of Illinois, in recognition of his 37 years of distinguished services to the cause of education in Illinois. In 1929 the medal was conferred upon Francis J. Lewis, for distinguished philanthropic services.

CARDINAL Mac Smi

U. S. PLAYER
TWO UNDER PAR; MANERO
HAS 72 CARD

By the Associated Press.

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 1.—MacDonald Smith, 38-year-old United States professional golfer, making a sentimental pilgrimage back to the town where he learned the game, carded a par-shattering 70 in the wind and rain at Barry today, to take the lead in the first qualifying round of the British open championship.

The slender, sandy-haired Scot who has been close a lot of times, but has never won a major golf title, burned up the course of his old home town with 26-24, putting together five successive fours on the last five holes to take the lead.

He was two strokes better than the closest American, Tony Manero, who also played at Barry today.

Following Smith and Manero in the American contingent were Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, both former United States open champions, with 75's. They played their round, however, over the adjacent "ladies" Carnoustie course as did Joe Tordella and Joe Kirkwood. The former took 74, Kirkwood 77.

Horton Smith Has 76.

Playing with MacDonald Smith at Barry were Horton Smith, the Missourian, who had 75; Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, who had 77; and Tommy Armour, also a former American champion, with 79.

The field, which was evenly divided today between the two courses, which will switch over tomorrow and play the final 18 holes of the qualifying rounds. The first 100 and ties will start in the tournament proper Wednesday, at 72 holes medal play.

All of the American professionals seemed safe enough if they but keep the same pace tomorrow, or close to it.

The American amateurs in the tournament did not fare so well. Johnny de Paolo of Los Angeles had 83; Tom Maguire of Stockton, Cal., 85; and Joshua Crane of Brookline, Mass., 86.

Several hundred Carnousties followed MacDonald Smith around, cheering despite the rain when the "home-town boy" made good. Smith missed a five-foot putt on the home hole that would have given him a record 68. Far for the course is 72.

Armour, who finished along with Smith, had an aggravating round, his long shots finding trouble on nearly every hole. An eight at the thirteenth, where he went into a bunker, was the stiffest jolt of all.

Henry Cotton, one of the chief British hopes, took 74 on the Barry course, two more than Manero and Archie Compston required.

Tomaso Genta, Argentine open champion, posted a 74.

Charles Whitcombe, British Ryder Cup captain, took 82 at Carnoustie and must get a good round tomorrow to stay in the running.

Cyril Tolley, former amateur champion, unexpectedly scratched from the open.

John De Forest, the rich young Londoner who was runner-up for open championship, had 77 for his round today, placing him well up on the qualifying list. Lister Hartley, the Kent professional, had a 76.

With all of Great Britain's best professionals and many of the United States crack pros entered in the tourney, it was believed it would take two rounds under 80 to get in the 100 who will play in the tournament proper.

Gene Sarazen, rolling partner of Farrell, and another former United States open champion, also scored 72 over the same course.

Alex Herd, 63-year-old English veteran, posted 25 strokes in his trip around Carnoustie.

Tourbillon Is Victor.

LONGCHAMP, France, June 1.—Marcel Boussac's Tourbillon, by King out of Dublin, won the Prix de la Forêt, stakes, worth $100, yesterday. J. Pua's colt, walk was second, and Baron Edouard de Rothschild's Jus de Raisin third. The winner, a seven-year-old, paid $14.50 for $10.

LOCAL STOCKS

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, June 1.—Lower prices were the rule at the start of the new week on the local board, although the market was not without exceptions to the trend.

Key Boiler Equipment declined more than 2 points and Elder "A" point. Landis also lost a point.

Wagner Electric and Johnson, and Johnson, were unchanged.

McQuay-Norris was unchanged. Six Bar & Fuller sold higher.

In the bond section higher at 4 1/2. Scruggs sold to extent of $4000 at 6 1/2.

The last recorded sale was in March at 9 1/2, but the offering price has been lowered since that time.

BROWN SHOE CO. EARNS $1.72 A SHARE IN HALF YEAR

The Brown Shoe Co., Inc., and its subsidiaries, in consolidated balance sheet as of close of business June 30, 1931, covering the first half of its fiscal year, reported earnings equivalent to $1.72 per share for the nine-month period.

The dividend requirement outstanding for the period is $1.50 per share. The book value of this stock has advanced to $46.83, it was stated.

The company reports that its business had a sharp upturn during the season. The seasonal decline that usually follows Easter did not develop. It was stated through a spokesman that the company had received since Easter for the month of May, a 20 percent increase in the number of shoes sold over the same period of last year.

The company will show in May a gain in dollars and cents, and also in the lower level of prices indicated according to a statement.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Directors of Foot & Bros. Gear and Machine Co. and Dodge Manufacturing Corporation have approved a plan for consolidation of the two companies, through an exchange of stock. The basis would be three-tenths of a share of new common for each of the 31,697 shares of Foot & Bros. $5 par common; one and one-half shares of new common for each of the 32,000 par common shares of Dodge Manufacturing; one share of new 2 1/2 par common for each outstanding preferred share of the constituent companies.

W. B. Storey, president of the Atchafalaya, Toledo and Santa Fe Railroad, said carloadings for May continued to show about the same percentage of decrease as in April, but the management has no idea as yet as to what the gross and net income will be.

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Co., said at the annual meeting that due to the generally depressed conditions, the outlook at present is less favorable than it was at this time last year, "but we are hopeful of improvement."

Diamond Match Co. for the March quarter had net profit equal to 29 cents a common share, compared with 42 cents a share in the like quarter of 1930.

Stockholders of Krueger & Toll Co., at the annual meeting approved payment of a dividend of 10 per cent on participating debentures, payable July 1. This is equal to $1.608 cents per American certificate.

V. V. Boatner, president of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, said business in the northwest this year depends upon basic factors like weather and crop yields. "Nothing better could be asked than the prevailing viewpoint of the northwest at this time," he said. "The business community is fatigued and basing its plans on solid and measurable data. Financial optimism and artificial cheer are now quite generally tabooed, with the certain result that all progress achieved will be sound and enduring."

How American Wheat Prices Were Kept Above World Level
By Federal Board's Purchases

Chairman Stone Declares Policy Served Only in Emergency and Future Stabilization Depends on Reducing Acreage.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Critics of the Federal Farm Board's wheat policy usually neglect to say that the world over-production of wheat is primarily responsible for the low domestic prices. Chairman James C. Stone declared in an interview today.

Despite this over-production for both the United States and for the world, Stone continued, American prices were higher than world prices. The reason for this, he asserted, was that the Grain Stabilization Corporation had taken off the American market a large but undisclosed amount of wheat.

"Let us consider the world wheat production 'as is' today and consider causes later," said Stone. "There are known to be on hand about 360,000,000 bushels of wheat more than the world can consume at the present time."

"Now the chief criticism of the board's wheat policy is that the Grain Stabilization Corporation has on hand a large amount of wheat, bought as an emergency expedient to keep the American price from falling below the world price at Liverpool and Winnipeg."

Stone is convinced that the only solution of the wheat problem is reduction of acreage, or to use the board's phraseology, "the adjustment of production to probable market requirements." Until there is an "adjustment" in the United States, Stone said, the world can be no fundamental change for the better.

Stone pointed out that wheat acreage increased in the United States between 1925 and 1929 out of proportion to the world need. The conference on land utilization, which was held in Washington, D. C., last year, showed that the world's wheat production was 1,200,000,000 bushels, while the average annual yield for the succeeding five-year period, including the poor crop year of 1925, was about 820,000,000 bushels.

What had happened during this 10-year period? he asked. "Let us go back into recent history. The wheat acreage of the United States was growing gradually for many years before the World War, but from 1914 to 1929 there was a tremendous demand for wheat. Russia, Germany, France and the Danube countries stopped producing large amounts of wheat. The demand was met by increased acreage in the United States, Canada, Australia and the Argentine."

Naturally the European countries with their chaotic money conditions could not afford to pay for imported wheat and they made haste to raise much of their grain. There was no economic justification for serious declines in sympathy with the securities market. To prevent such declines, the board announced that it would make loans of fixed value to cooperate in stabilizing the wheat market.

War Swelled Production. "What had happened during this 10-year period?" he asked. "Let us go back into recent history. The wheat acreage of the United States was growing gradually for many years before the World War, but from 1914 to 1929 there was a tremendous demand for wheat. Russia, Germany, France and the Danube countries stopped producing large amounts of wheat. The demand was met by increased acreage in the United States, Canada, Australia and the Argentine."

METAL BALL USED IN STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT SALVAGED

Prof. Piccard's Gondola Lowered 1300 Feet From Alpine Glacier.

By the Associated Press.

AUGSBURG, Germany, June 1.—Contrary to previous plans, the aluminum gondola in which Prof. August Piccard and Charles Kipfer rode to new heights will not remain as a monument to them on the glacier where the balloon landed. Advice received here from Oberurg, Austria, said that a salvaging squad recovered the ball yesterday. They towed the seven-foot sphere across a natural ice bridge by cable, slung it over a big crevasse and lowered it 1300 feet down the glacier's wall.

Telegrams have been received here from three English department stores offering Dr. Piccard any price to exhibit his now historic "basket."

The citizens of Augsburg yesterday gave an ovation to Prof. Piccard and his assistant when they returned for a brief visit to the town from which they began their historic flight. Three hours before the arrival of the train the well-wishers paraded through the decorated town and even a severe thunderstorm failed to send them home. They cheered wildly when the two scientists arrived. The balloonists had to make several appearances at a window of their hotel before a crowd was satisfied. Piccard and Kipfer were entertained at a banquet.

NEW ZEALAND CLASSES GOODS

Most of Imports Taken Off British Preferential Tariff List.

By the Associated Press.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 1.—The New Zealand Government today decided that the entire range of Canadian imports excepting gum boots and certain classes of paper and wire shall be deprived of the advantage of the British preferential tariff and shall be placed on the general tariff. The action was taken as a consequence of failure to reach agreement with Canada regarding reciprocal tariffs.

Canadian goods now will be treated as foreign and will be taxed accordingly. Some American houses have been maintaining branch factories in Canada in order to take advantage of the preferential tariffs.

No alterations are proposed in respect to Canadian motor vehicles and engines, the duties of which were increased last August.

SOVIET RAISES TELEGRAPH TOLLS AND POSTAL RATES

Government Services Still Unable to Care for Large Amount of Business.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, June 1.—The Soviet Government has increased telegraph tolls 7 to 10 kopeks (3 1/2 to 5 cents) and all private letters are limited to 25 words. The order does not apply to foreign messages.

Telegraph offices throughout the country apparently were jammed with messages. At Stalingrad 2000 messages were unsent. There were 10,000 complaints at the central postoffice at Moscow over failure to deliver newspapers and magazines. Letters and newspapers addressed to foreigners are frequently delayed several days.

The congestion of posts and telegrams is attributed to the rapid growth of the Soviet industries and the collecting of taxes and also to the heavy mailing of instructions to various agents and officials, as well as the huge propaganda output.

Domestic letter postage rates have been increased. Parcel post rates have also been increased and the weight limit of packages restricted to 10 pounds.

SLIGHT EXPANSION IN BUSINESS NOTED IN FEDERAL REPORT

Larger Output in Manufactures of Food Products, Autos, Shoes, Cement and Tobacco in April.

SEASONAL INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT

Dollar Sales of Department Stores Up 8 Per Cent in Month and 2 Per Cent Below a Year Ago.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Commerce Department reported today that business conditions generally showed continued, and in some instances, marked improvement during April.

Greater than seasonal improvement was shown in manufacture of food products, automobiles, leather and shoe products, cement and tobacco.

"April was the third consecutive month," the department said, "in which the volume of business in the United States, after allowing for normal seasonal trends, showed further slight expansion from the low levels established in January, while the seasonal decline occurring in early May has been slightly larger than usual."

Gains and Recessions. "Industrial production as measured by the Federal Reserve Board's seasonally adjusted index, registered another increase in April, and in that month was 9 per cent above the December level. Output of manufactures was larger than in March, owing chiefly to greater than seasonal improvement in the food products, automobile, leather, shoe, cement and tobacco industries, while iron and steel and non-ferrous metal production was smaller than in the preceding month. The textile industries maintained recent gains at March levels, with the cotton industry especially active."

"The index of mineral output, adjusted for seasonal changes, increased nearly 5 per cent from the preceding month instead of continuing the seasonal increase, usual at this period, which was manifest in March."

Building Construction Off. "Building construction in April as measured by contracts awarded decreased 9 per cent from the preceding month instead of continuing the seasonal increase, usual at this period, which was manifest in March."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

Alcohol and the Human Body.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MANY persons throughout this country still swallow the threadbare platitudes in prohibition papers concerning the effects of alcohol on the human system.

These propagandists often spring that terrifying old gag about boiling an egg in alcohol, and then draw their uncouth moral as to the havoc the devilish stuff would do the stomach of a heavy drinker. Campaigners for the W. C. T. U., who imagine themselves filled with the flame of righteousness, range up and down the land. Pull of saving grace, they feel they must burst if once they come in contact with hard facts and sane direction. Yet they gibber to audiences their bogus medical "facts" on the evils of alcohol; how it cooks the liver (causing cirrhosis); pickles the stomach (causing ulcers); and, as P. T. Barnum once said on his circus posters, "Other things too numerous to mention!"

The so-called "drys" should cease regarding all their fellow citizens as being weak-willed liquor addicts or morons. They ignore the thousands of sensible, temperate citizens who, because of invalidism or advanced age, imperatively need the mild stimulant of a little malt whisky or wine to prolong their waning vitality. Honest doctors can only hint at the thousands thus cautiously persecuted and their lives shortened by the brutal and hypocritical fanatics who have assumed the grave responsibility of managing their fellow's private affairs and habits.

No less an authority than Dr. Charles A. Reed, former president of the American Medical Association, writing in "Popular Science Monthly" for January, 1928, said: "Physiological chemistry has taught us that alcohol is present in the normal tissues of the body, even of the brain. This alcohol gets there from several sources. Certain foods contain alcohol—notably the starches and sugars—which generate it in the process of fermentation before they reach the tissues. There are scientists who high repute who advance the theory that all cells of the body generate alcohol in some form; and finally, that the alcohol thus generated or introduced into the body, is the (indispensable) energizing element, the real dynamic of the human organism!" Query.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WILL agree that The Arena is a civic benefit which some claim should be owned and operated by the city, but it was started as a private enterprise, the profits, if any, to be received by the promoters and stockholders only. No one else was to share in them. Now that the venture is not paying, why should the city take it over, especially in face of the plans now in progress to build the auditorium on the Memorial Plaza?

JUST ANOTHER.

It Happened in Georgia.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

GEORGIA has shown the way to Missouri and some of the more Northern states on how to handle the problem of lynch law. On May 18 four Negroes were arrested at Elberton for attacking a white girl. A mob began forming. Officials appealed to the Governor and National Guardsmen immediately were sent. The mob grew to 5000, but the militiamen remained firm, even to the point of firing shots that wounded two of the attackers. Then, using common sense, they placed the Negroes in militia uniforms and spirited them away when the mob threatened to dynamite the jail.

Eight days later one of the Negroes was brought to trial, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Charges against the other Negroes were dismissed. Whether the one Negro ever had a chance for what might be termed a fair trial in a Northern state cannot be judged—but the law of the land was observed and innocent men were spared. G. C.

Protect the Young Shade Trees.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THOUGHTLESS boys have again begun to injure the young shade trees by beating the bark off with sticks as they race down the street. Small trees planted along Maryland avenue last year, to replace those that died, are being injured in this way. As it seems there is no way of educating boys to respect these trees, nor can the police be expected to watch to prevent such vandalism, why does not the Park Department build tree boxes around such trees, when planted? I have seen young trees thus protected in other cities, and it seems to be the only way. It is not expensive, at least it is less costly than the replanting of trees to replace those thus injured. A tree cannot thrive if its bark is partly stripped off or badly hurt.

TREE LOVER.

A NATIONAL OZARKS PARK.

The plan for a national park in the Ozarks, which has been the object of an educational campaign by the Ozarks Chamber of Commerce and other organizations interested in the development, recreational and other, of the Ozark country, received an impetus at the annual meeting of the National Conference on State Parks, in this city last week.

The plan was brought to the attention of Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, who attended the conference. Mr. Albright promised to give the proposal serious consideration, and went on a tour through the Ozarks with the intention of looking over the Ozark region of Missouri to discover possibilities of finding a park area which would contain attractions sufficient to draw nationwide interest.

The United States now has national parks covering an area of 13,000,000 acres. Most of this area is distributed from the Rockies to the Pacific Coast. There is only one park in the central states, the small reservation at Hot Springs, Ark., containing only one and one-half square miles. There are only two east of the Mississippi River, one not yet developed, at Smoky Mountain in Tennessee and North Carolina, and a comparatively small reservation in the granite mountains on the Maine Coast. The most interesting area in the Middle West, for scenic beauty and natural wonders, is the Ozark region, now rapidly developing as a recreational center for tourists, not only within the central region of the United States but from all parts of the Union.

The natural beauty and picturesqueness of the Ozark Mountain country is not surpassed by any other part of the United States. It contains numerous springs, several of them of first magnitude and unexcelled in beauty of surroundings; great caves, clear streams winding through the mountains with unexcelled scenic attractions and possibilities for fish and game conservation. Of course the mountains do not compare in height and grandeur with the Rockies and other high ranges, but they are incomparable otherwise, with picturesque charm. Big Spring, one of the marvels of the world in volume of water, is now in a State park. Another, Greer Spring, with even more natural attractions and about equal in volume with Big Spring, is privately owned. There is one obstacle to the acquisition and development of a national park in the Ozarks, in the provision of Section 11072 of the Revised Statutes, limiting the acquisition by the Federal Government of more than 25 acres in a town and 2000 acres in any one county in the State. This was an amending clause which was inserted in the original law relating to postoffices and customs buildings, for revenue purposes, to prevent the cutting down of counties to a non-supporting basis. This limitation would prevent the acquisition by the Federal Government of a national park area, which would far exceed this area. The obstacle, however, can easily be removed by the Legislature. A bill repealing the clause passed the House at this session, but failed in the rush of legislation at the close of the session in the Senate. Undoubtedly, with a definite prospect of establishing a national park, the Legislature would repeal the clause.

Most of the Ozark region is thinly populated. Carter County has only 5503 inhabitants, and others range up to 10,000 or 12,000. Much of the region is suitable only for park and recreational purposes, and large stretches of the most beautiful and interesting character could be taken for park purposes without serious loss to the State; in fact, with great gain in view of the possibilities of tourist travel. The rapidly increasing population of the Middle West is entitled to share in the great recreational projects of the national Government. The region for a national park is undoubtedly in the Ozark Mountains. That region, with forests primeval, great scenic beauty and natural attractions, should be preserved from further devastation. We believe the national park plan can be accomplished by a well directed campaign. Energetic efforts to that end should be made.

A LITERARY WILD GOOSE CHASE.

Two professors of English at Southern Methodist University recently published a book, "Famous Editions of English Poets," in which 18 volumes of verse are reproduced in full, just as they appeared in the originals, with photographic copies of the old title pages. This involved a vast amount of labor and research, and was done at Oxford University and the British Museum, where original copies of such works as Shakespeare's sonnets, Pope's "Essay on Criticism," Byron's "The Prisoner of Chillon" and Tennyson's poems were available for copying. On returning to this country, the Texas Weekly relates, the scholars were surprised to learn that all the rare volumes they had consulted overseas could have been found in libraries of their own State. This is an amusing incident, but it is more; it indicates how our country has made intellectual progress while it expanded economically, and that it has libraries as well as skyscrapers to be proud of. It is not always necessary to rush to Europe for a draught from the Pierian spring.

BEAR STORIES.

The Portland Oregonian accuses us of undue sentimentalism toward the Alaskan brown bear in our comment on the ne. park recently set aside for its preservation. The species is dangerous, says the Oregonian. Alaskans hold it in dread for its "unprovoked and savage attacks on man," and its presence is a detriment to settlement. We would scarcely advise adopting a 1200-pound specimen of this creature as a playmate for the baby, but in stating that the species gave little trouble unless molested, we had plenty of sound authority.

The magazine, Outdoor Life, last year investigated the accounts of "brownie" atrocities, and found most of them inspired by sheepmen seeking cheap grazing lands, who exaggerated occasional losses of sheep, and the experiences of hunters who failed to finish a wounded animal. The law allowing any Alaskan to kill bears, except on preserves, when he considers them dangerous, is a great molder of opinion. The chairman of the Alaska Game Commission says with regard to casualties: "In the great majority of such cases, the victim has been the aggressor." That mighty Nimrod, Stewart Edward White, wrote in the Saturday Evening Post that, despite "unthinking hysteria," the Alaskan bear is comparatively timid, and that "even the much touted mother-and-cub combination is more or less of a legend."

While writhing under the charge of sentimentalism, we also learn that in the same editorial this assailed we "malign the bears." This is the opinion of the earnest head of the New York Anti-Vivisection Society, who presumably abhors the thought of any bear-hunting, even under restrictions. Having accomplished the feat of sentimentalizing and maligning the character of this species at one and the same time, we rest our case.

RAILROADS AND THE POWER INDUSTRY.

The records of the Federal Trade Commission, revealing that the North American Co. lost money on railroads and made it back on power companies, surprised nobody. Bonds and stocks of railroads were purchased by this company in 1890 and afterward declined in value until, in 1901, there was an accumulated deficit of $36,000,000. Then the company, reorganizing its capital structure, began to invest in power. Its 1929 income was $28,806,824.

The experience of the North American Co. is not an isolated example. Twenty-four of our 27 largest power companies made greatly increased profits last year, while our other major industries, farming, manufacturing and transportation, were languishing.

The great power companies now occupy the place in our political life and thought that the railroads held two generations ago. As the railroads at that time opened up new territory geographically, electric light and power now open up new territory industrially. The prosperity of great businesses, the growth of cities and the daily comforts and economies of offices and homes—all these, in this modern world, are inescapably linked with the magic of power and light.

The power companies, like the railroads, have had to obtain special privileges from the Government in order to operate at all. The very nature of their business requires it. When public power sites must be taken for use, when transmission lines must cross the private property of individuals—in literally thousands of emergencies, the rights of individuals conflict and the strong arm of the law must be employed to subordinate what was formerly a right of the individual to what has become a right of the community.

To secure such privileges it has been necessary to employ counsel, and to exert pressure upon legislative bodies. And it is only natural that men representing the companies should ask for and get all the privileges that they could. The presence of lobbyists for power companies, not only in Washington and our state capitals, but also in every city, town, village and hamlet in the United States, is as easy to understand as the alphabet or the multiplication table.

As a nation, we did not realize the extent to which the railroads, seeking our favors, would become our rulers. We do not realize it today as to power companies.

The North American Co. happens to be one of these great institutions that is of special interest to citizens of St. Louis; for it controls the Union Electric Light & Power Co. of Missouri, and also owns 25 per cent of the City Utilities Co., the holding company that controls the St. Louis Public Service Co.

REGULATING THE MELTING POT.

Those who would have foreign elements in the United States forsake all their native customs and interests after they take up residence in the new home overlook the many benefits which result from the continuance of close association and its activities. The presence in St. Louis over the week-end of the Polish Falcons of America for athletic and gymnastic competitions, in which some 2500 contestants took part, illustrates the point. At the public high schools stadium these kinsmen of Kosciuszko and Chopin, of Sienkiewicz and Paderewski, gave an exhibition which must be reckoned with in describing the spirit of America. A colorful feature of the carnival was the presentation of the mazar, the national dance. More than 1000 persons participated in the drill and as many sang the folk songs of the land of the Vistula. A seat in the grandstand should have sufficed to convince anyone why the melting pot ought never get too hot.

HOUDON'S WASHINGTON.

Failure of the committee of artists and historians to select an official portrait of Washington for the bicentennial next year was fortunate. It has resulted in unanimous agreement on the bust executed by Jean Antoine Houdon while a guest at Mount Vernon two years after the Revolution. No work could marshal higher recommendation. It was modeled from life by one of the greatest of modern sculptors while Washington was in his prime. So eager was the artist to obtain lifelikeness that he corrected the bust by means of a life mask. It is interesting to know that the face's firmness was caught by Houdon when he saw Washington's indignation at a horse trader's attempt to lead him into a questionable deal. Being a bust, it can be photographed from various angles, a distinct advantage over a painting, which lends itself to no such variety. Furthermore, use of a Frenchman's work will call attention in a fitting manner to the help of the French in the Revolution. Thanks to the committee's wise choice, the country stands to become thoroughly acquainted with the vigorous head, the original of which is a recollection of everyone who visits the Potomac shrine.

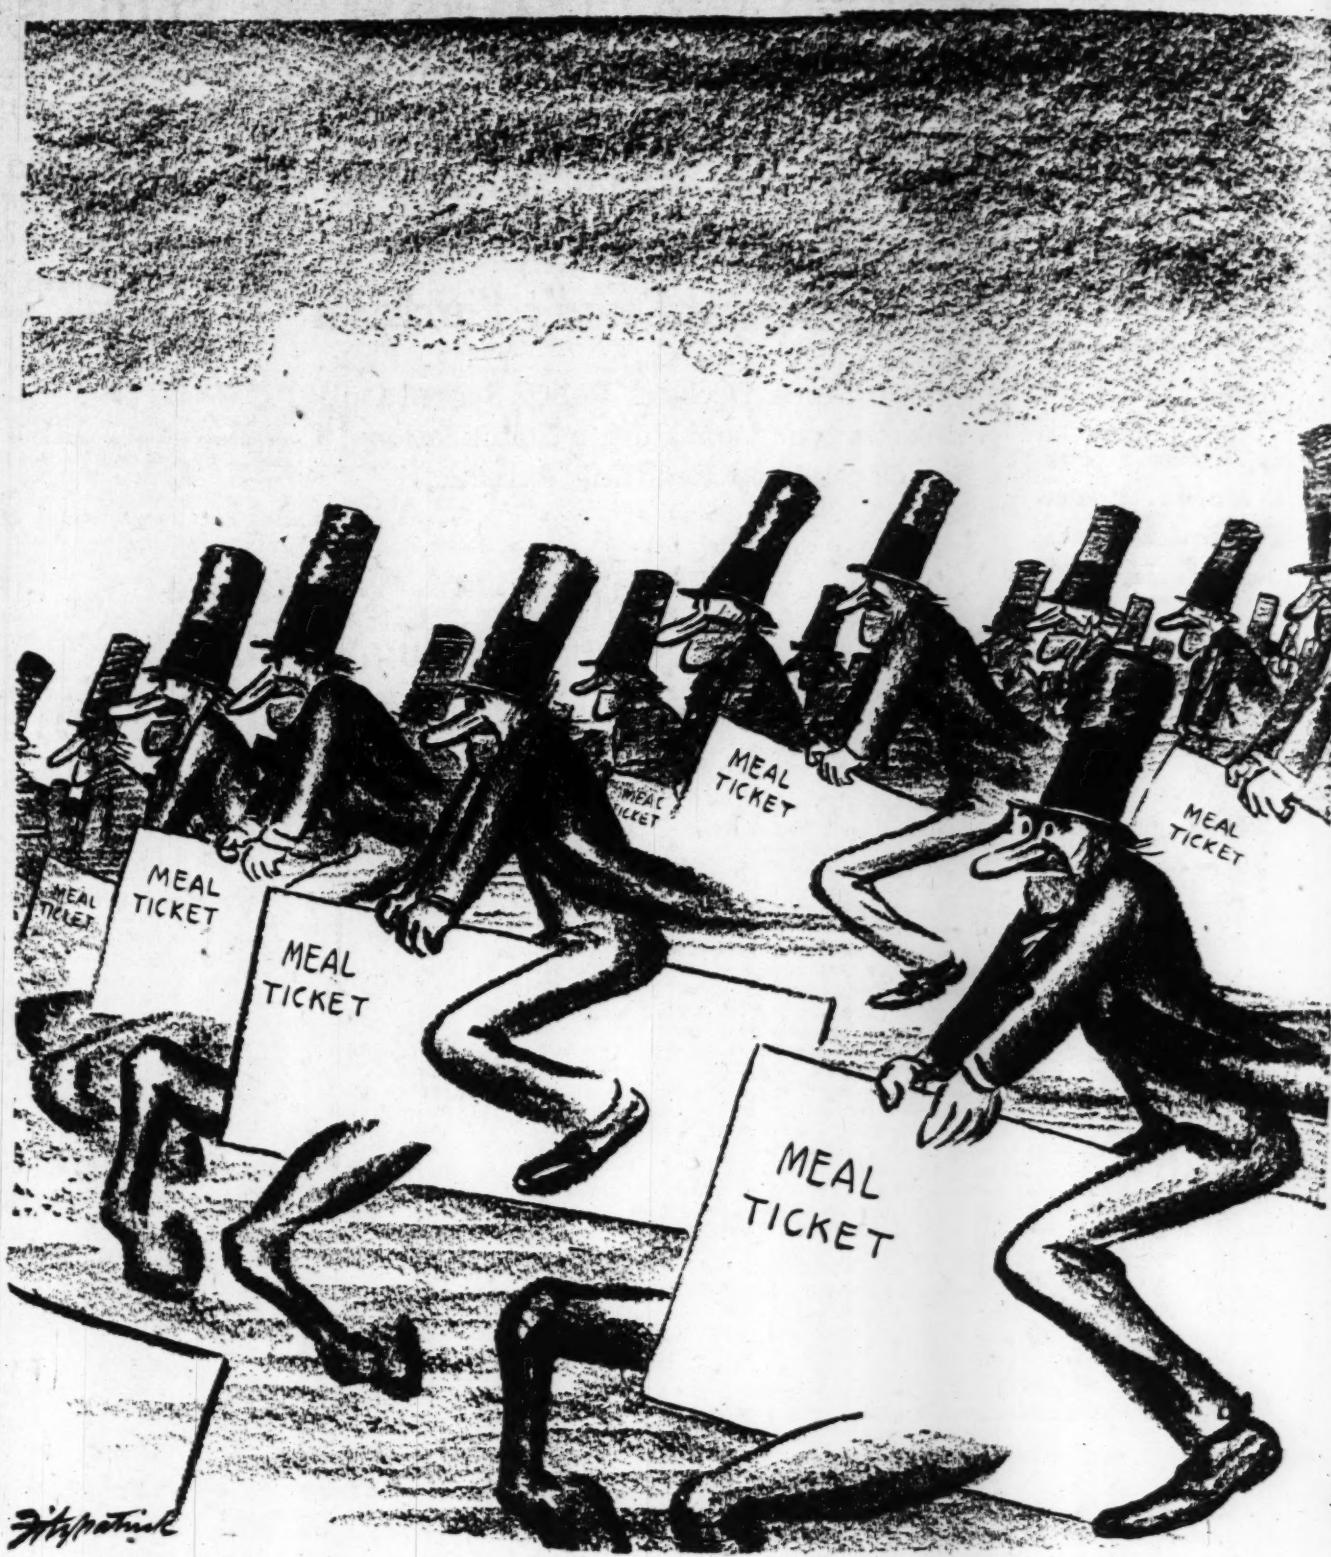

WHEN THE EXPERTS WERE ALL WRONG.

It is refreshing to meet an economist with sense of humor. Prof. William T. Foster of the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research is such a person. In a recent speech, as reported by the Boston News Bureau, he referred to a meeting of leading financial statisticians in New York City on Nov. 4. They were a doleful crowd. Not a word of cheer in the whole symposium. One foreman "little prospect of an extensive business revival in the near future." Another, "slow and irregular business for 10 years." The sunniest spirit in the party ventured that "business will come back to fair, slow operations in three years."

The date of those prophecies, as already recorded, was Nov. 4, but the year was 1921. At the very moment of their gloomy forecasts, business was improving; but, as Prof. Foster says, the experts didn't know it. Yet in a short time it was patent to everyone, and within 18 months "business was so far above normal that the experts became frightened again."

It were too sweeping a generalization to say that the experts are always wrong, but it does seem as if they would rather be wrong than happy.

Thanks to Prof. Picard and his assistant, Alumnus went to a new high.

ON TO THE MILLENNIUM!

Spain Since the Revolution

Republic will likely be a federated one, with each state possessing much autonomous power; large estates to be divided; power of church to be curtailed; irrigation project is under way; Government expects to take over railroads and public utilities; Alfonso still personally popular, despite bitterness toward his regime.

By Elizabeth Lord Driemeyer.

MADRID.

WE hear many reports of the state of the republic. It seems to be the general opinion that it will be a federated republic, with each state having a great deal of autonomous power. The demand for that comes chiefly from Catalonia and the Basque provinces, the two richest districts of Spain. Col. Macia, who has set himself up as provincial President of Catalonia, of which Barcelona is the chief center, is threatening a completely separate republic. But to that the authorities in Madrid will not agree. This province is the principal industrial district of Spain, while Barcelona is the biggest port. Catalonians object to paying a large share of the expenses of this country, and they get out of belonging to the whole. The separatist movement has been active there and in the Basque provinces for a long while, and this seems an opportune time to cut it over. As in all industrial communities, the Communists are particularly strong there, and they foment trouble whenever possible.

The ministry has announced that the tremendous estates of Spain are to be cut up for the benefit of the people, though the owners are to be recompensed "reasonably." Spain has been the last stand of feudalism, and there still exist many big holdings on which the peasants work almost as in the Middle Ages.

Freedom of worship has been declared, and the church has been warned to keep its hands out of politics. Our Swiss informant, who has lived in Spain 30 years, told us that while Protestant churches had formerly not been absolutely forbidden, the difficulties put in their way had made their existence almost impossible. He attended a Protestant church on the grounds of the German Legation, which, like all other Protestant buildings, was not allowed to have a steeple, as that would look too much like a church, and such a thing could not be tolerated. New such restrictions are to be lifted—so says the Government. We have been interested in the attitude of many of the people, and ordinary people at that, who calmly declare that, having gotten rid of the King, the church will be the next to go. The Government is doing its utmost to keep this resentment from expressing itself against convents, schools, churches, etc., but it is a difficult task.

The forces now in power, however, have heeded the example of Mexico, most recently, and of the rest of the world, and are convinced that for Spain to go ahead the church must be broken up. The church owns one-third of the wealth of the country. It is also pointed out that the church has extended its power and influence to commercial enterprises, such as steamship and electric companies. It collected 10,000,000 pesetas yearly from the Government under the monarchy. It is reported that this money and the 7,500,000 pesetas formerly paid to the royal family is to be used in Andalusia, where unemployment and distress are greatest. The detailed settlement of the relations between church and state is to be left to the constituent Cortes after its election in June.

Plans are under way for an extensive irrigation project, principally in the south, where much of the land is barren and a large part of the population is always on the verge of starvation. Eventually the Government expects to take over such enterprises as the railroads and public utilities. There has been much complaint against the royal administration for granting practical monopolies to certain interests, sometimes foreign, as in the case of the telephone system. This was turned over to an American group, and, unpatriotic as it may seem, the result is a highly satisfactory telephone service throughout Spain, instead of such as they have in France—French controlled but notoriously and unbelievably bad.

The Government has announced that the $60,000,000 loan made to Spain by Morgan about a month ago has been returned unused, and that the country will now do its own financing. The peseta has dropped in value. A great exodus of nobles and monarchist sympathizers is going on, and they take with them all they can carry—chiefly money and jewels. This not only decreases the money in circulation in Spain, but, by dumping it in foreign countries, depreciates the value of the peseta in world markets. The authorities are trying to stop the overflow, but much has been lost.

The Duchess of Alba, of one of the richest families in Spain, was found at the French border to have with her a million pesetas which she was made to deposit in a bank on the Spanish side. Another aristocrat—unnamed—was relieved of 750,000 in the same way, though it must not be supposed that this money was confiscated. It must be left in Spain, but is deposited in its owner's name. We learned that our fellow-traveler who took no interest in the republican demonstrations was no other than the Count of Guell and the Marquis of something else—one-time representative of Spain at the League of Nations and a former Mayor of Barcelona. As we approached Madrid he was almost speechless with emotion, but explained to us that, though he now lived in Madrid, his children were at school in Barcelona. Reports had come through of trouble there with a few dead and wounded and he was much concerned for his family's safety.

It is interesting to see that popular feeling is not directed against Alfonso personally, but against the monarchy as such and the abuses it has stood for. Personally he is respected and well liked. They say that the incompetence of his sons is one of the reasons for the change coming at this time. They know that the next generation cannot carry on and so think the monarchy might as well go now as later. They blame him for allowing De Rivera to ruin the country as they believe—though some thinking people still remember that the early years of his dictatorship did much for Spain, and that he pulled them out of a bad hole after the massacre of 10,000 men at Annual, Spanish Morocco, in 1922.

Present and Past Depressions

From Editorial Research Reports.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, in his Memorial day address at Valley Forge, asserted: "No one who reviews the past and realizes the vast strength of our people can doubt that this, like a score of similar experiences in our history, is a passing trial." There have been 13 well defined serious business depressions in the United States since 1854. The present depression, by the gauge of maximum decrease from normal business activity, is the most severe. These 13 depressions have been as follows:

Year	Duration in Mos.	Maximum Percentage Decrease from Normal
Panic of 1857	18	15.9
Early Civil War depression	33	34
Depression after Civil War	11	14.9
Panic of 1873	70	12.7
Depression of 1884	21	10.1
Panic of 1893	25	18.9
Depression of 1896-97	22	15.2
Rich man's panic of 1903	14	11.4
Panic of 1907	20	14.1
Depression of 1914	19	12.4
Early World War depression	15	15.6
Depression after World War	25	27.6
Present depression—Began Nov., 1929	28.5	28.5

The low-water mark of the present depression was reached in January of this year, when the index of business activity stood at 28.3 per cent below normal. It had been at 28.2 per cent below normal in December, 1930. Since then, the index has risen. It was 25 per cent below normal last February, 23.4 per cent below normal in March, and only 22.3 per cent below normal in April. (The figure for April is computed from the preliminary figures of manufacturing and mining production of the Federal Reserve Board.)

President Hoover, at Valley Forge on Memorial day, said in defense of his refusal to call a special session of Congress: "For the energies of private initiative, of independence and a high degree of individual freedom of our American system, we are offered the . . . specious claim that hired representatives of a hundred million people can do better than the people themselves in thinking and planning their daily life. In five of the 12 previous depressions listed above, no special sessions of Congress were called by the President. In four others, matters other than the business depression were responsible for a special session. Lincoln called a special session in 1861 after the Civil War had broken out; Hayes called one in 1877 because of the need for Army and other appropriations; Roosevelt called one in 1903 to ratify a commercial treaty with Cuba, and Taft, one in 1911 to ratify a treaty for tariff reciprocity with Canada. Two of the depressions were indirectly involved in call for special sessions. McKinley called one soon after taking office in 1897 to remedy the Treasury deficit, chiefly by raising tariff duties, and Harding called one soon after his inauguration in 1921, to provide for Government economy, tax reduction, tariff revision and general legislation.

The one special session called during a depression directly to remedy the depression was called by Cleveland in 1892. His special session proclamation asserted that the crisis was due largely to unwise financial legislation which could be changed only by action of Congress. In addition, Van Buren called a special session of Congress during the panic of 1837, to change financial legislation to which the panic was attributed.

MUNICIPAL OPERA RESERVATIONS GROW

Blocks of Seats Set Aside for Organizations Double Last Year's Record.

The number of organizations that have arranged for a block of seats and a night at the opera this year is double that of last year, officers of the Municipal Theater Association say. Sections have been taken by railroads, by school groups and by local clubs, 26 of which were reserved before the opening. The first delegations were those of the Loretto Academy and the Pinella at the performance Saturday night. Tonight the Girls' Athletic Association of Greenville, Ill., will hold a group party, tomorrow night 500 members of the Optimists' Club and 100 members of the Merchants' Exchange will attend, and for Wednesday night 250 seats have been set aside for the American Rhinological and Laryngological and Otolaryngological Association, which is meeting in the city.

Other reservations for the season are: June 9, American Association of Railroad Superintendents, 500 seats; June 12, Washington Railway, 300 seats; June 15, Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf championship tournament, 125; June 15, St. Louis Parent-Teachers Association, 100 seats; June 16, St. Louis Display Men's Association and automobile Dealers' Association, 1200 seats; June 19, Art Extension Club; June 21, Power National Educational Association Tour party; June 22, Elks' Club, Child Conservation Conference, and Fire Underwriters' Association; June 22, Kruger Grocery & Baking Co., 1500 seats; June 24, International Association of Civilian, 700 seats; June 25, Republican Women's Club and First National Bank Club; June 27, Des Moines Y. M. C. A. Glee Club; July 12, Merchant Tailors & Designers' Association; July 14, Emerson Electric Co. employees, and Display men's Association; July 16, Missouri Pacific Employees Club; July 18, Illinois Central employees; July 21, Missouri State Life Insurance Co. employees; Aug. 11, Shell Petroleum Corporation, 750 seats; Aug. 12, Frisco Railroad, 600 seats; Aug. 16, Terminal Railroad Association.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 1.

DURING the first four days in June the Boys' Club Federation of America will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary in Washington. This national movement is sponsored by over 40 of our most prominent business men. It includes about 250 clubs which have doubled in number in ten years. They are located in 132 cities and have a membership of over 250,000 with an investment of over $20,000,000. The object of this organization is to provide opportunity through wholesome activity under trained supervision for normal development of underprivileged boys.

These clubs are purposely located in congested centers where, without them, the street would be the gathering place for the boys. They are open to all boys at a nominal cost and provide such recreation facilities as gymnasium, shower baths, vocational training and libraries. By means of holy charity they carry light into otherwise darkened lives. Through their influence boys are taught that they can be active and courageous while being law-abiding, manly and straight. As a source of character building and preparation for citizenship their influence is beyond calculation. This is practical philanthropy.

U. S. BUILDING WATCHMAN DIES

John M. Ratford, 75 years old, a watchman at the Federal Building died yesterday at his home, 5430 Murdoch avenue, after an illness of three weeks. He served formerly as a watchman at the old Sub-treasury.

During the World's Fair he was parkkeeper at Forest Park and later held the same position at O'Fallon Park.

Mr. Ratford, who died of the infirmities of age, is survived by two sons, John J. and T. Arthur, and two daughters, Miss Mary L. Ratford and Mrs. J. T. Burke. Funeral services will be conducted from the home to St. Mary Magdalene Church Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, with interment in Calvary Cemetery.

Pioneer Movie Man Dies.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 1.—Isaac H. Ruben, 63 years old, co-founder of the Finkelshtein-Ruben chain of theaters in the Northwest, died yesterday after a heart attack. Ruben and M. L. Finkelshtein started business with a single moving picture house 23 years ago. The venture grew into a chain reaching 27 cities in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas. They sold their interests two years ago. Finkelshtein died last January.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS KATHERINE PERKINS, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Albert T. Perkins, 6352 Ellsworth avenue, will depart Wednesday for Princeton, N. J., to visit her aunt, Mrs. Henry Dallas Thompson, for several weeks, and other relatives.

Col. and Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Thompson are planning a trip to Europe late this month, and Miss Perkins will join them.

Mrs. Arthur B. Shepley, 50 Westmoreland place, will spend the summer at her home in Northeast Harbor, Me. Her daughter, Miss Mary Mervin Shepley, and her son, Arthur B., will depart June 25 to spend a month on a ranch in Wyoming. Mr. Shepley, who is a student at Harvard Law School, will arrive home June 15.

Mrs. James W. Lee, 5043 Washington boulevard, will depart next week for New York to visit her sons, Ivy, J. W. Jr. and Lewis Lee, for a fortnight before going to Chautauque, N. Y., where she will spend the summer. Mrs. Lee returned a day or two ago from a visit in Georgia, her former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Allen, 210 Longfellow boulevard, will depart June 13 for New Haven, Conn., to attend the graduation of their son, Edmund Temple Allen, June 16. Mr. Allen will enter the Harvard School of Business Administration next fall. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will go to New York for the wedding of Miss Mary Delafield, daughter of Edward Coleman Delafield, president of the Bank of America, to A. Ludlow Kramer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ludlow Kramer of Westbury, L. I., to take place in West Church, Riverside on Hudson, June 20. Mr. Allen Jr. will be best man at the ceremony. The young men are close friends and former classmates.

Miss Delafield has chosen her sister, Mrs. William Bergh Kip, as matron of honor, and her bridesmaids will include Miss Marjorie Kramer, a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Sophie Snyder of Washington, Miss Eugenia Morris, Miss Molly Shonk, Miss Nancy Hancock of Kentucky and Miss Theodora and Miss Lois Barstow. Rita Kip and Celia Delafield will be flower girls.

Mr. Kramer's ushers will be Adams Batcheller Jr., Henry Lewis, William B. Kip, William Mackay, Henry F. Godfrey Jr., Jack Bishop, his cousin, Edward C. Delafield Jr., Mr. Livingston Delafield, brothers of the bride; Leroy Goff of Ithaca, Pa.; Robert L. Gerry Jr., William A. Russell of Boston and Charles W. Starcher Jr. of Huntington, W. Va.

A reception will follow at the home of the bride on Riverdale on Hudson.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lawrence Keyes of Ladue and Warsaw roads and their children will leave about June 20 for Northeast Harbor, Me., to occupy their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Weisenburger, 7123 Westmoreland drive, and their daughter, Miss Marjorie Weisenburger, will depart this week for New Haven, Conn., where their son, Rex, is a student at Yale. They will make the trip by motor and after spending several weeks in the East will be accompanied home by their son.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Boogher, 6200 Pershing avenue, have departed for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to be present at the graduation of their daughter, Miss Hillary Boogher, from Vassar College. Later they will motor through the White Mountains.

Mrs. Claxton E. Allen, 4626 Maryland avenue, departed Friday for Hot Springs, Va., to join Mr. Allen, who has been in the East for several weeks. They will go to Northampton, Mass., to attend the graduation of their daughter, Miss Lydia Anne Allen from the Northampton School for Girls, and later Mrs. Allen and their son, Edmunds, will take a motor trip. Mr. Allen Jr. is a student at Washington and Lee University.

Mrs. and Mrs. George Bernard Gannett, 5435 Cecile avenue, have leased a cottage at Bass Lake, Wis., and will depart in June for the North. Accompanying them will be Frederick C. Lake III, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Lake, 5245 Waterman avenue.

Summer plans of St. Louisans include a vacation period to be spent at Santa Barbara, Cal., by a party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meredith Kauffman, 51 Portland place, and their daughter, Miss Janet Kauffman, and Mrs. Kauffman's sister, Miss Helen Morton, 41 Portland place. Others who have chosen Santa Barbara as their summer residence include Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. West, 42 Westmoreland place, and their young daughter, Miss Betty West, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, 16 Portland place, and other members of their family. They will be domiciled at the Biltmore Hotel. Mr. and Mrs.

Clarkson Potter of New York and their small daughter, Nora, will join the party later in the season. At La Jolla, Cal., will be Mr. and Mrs. Dozier Gardner, 6227 Rosebury drive. They have taken a cottage there for the month of August. Mr. Gardner's parents, former Gov. and Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner, 4508 West Pine boulevard, will also spend two months at La Jolla. With his two sons, Dozier and William King Gardner of Upper Ladue road, Mr. Gardner will go to Alaska on a hunting trip in September. They will be accompanied by James Smith of the Netherby Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Nims, 56 Portland place, will sail July 4 on the Leviathan for a summer trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hoblitzelle, 6450 Ellenwood avenue, will depart tomorrow for Philadelphia, Pa., to make their home. They will be at the Greenhill Farm Hotel at Overhills, Pa. Their two young sons will remain in St. Louis to end of their school term, with their

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK

DIARY of a modern Peppys: Out to my hostess's and passed Bob Davis, Joseph Urban and Henry Sell and the latter pretty cock-a-hoop in a gay ribboned straw hat. Then to a manicure parlor where the maid said she was secretly in love with Warner Baxter, whom she had never seen.

And I recalled my adolescent fervor for Della Fox and of interviewing her after many years in a shabby hotel room here in the city. Yet, by Heaven's mercy, Della Fox in tight, puffing a cigarette and caressing of a babbling brook is still to me the stage's most glamorous figure.

Home and came George Sokolski, a gentleman out of Shanghai, bringing four beautiful volumes, a gift from Stuart Price, and a library treasure far beyond my frugal means. So taking my wife to the "Rhapsody in Black," the best colored revue I ever beheld, yet always I miss Florence Mills.

THERE was much favorable comment among Broadway friends about the light way Al Jolson accepted his million and a half loss in the stock market crash. When asked how he came out he would say: "I lost a million and a half, ha, ha, ha." Always he finished with a laugh. The other day Jolson explained: "They didn't know I was nuts."

aunts, Miss Trimble and Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle. Mr. and Mrs. Hoblitzelle and the Misses Hoblitzelle will spend the summer abroad.

Miss Vivienne Lang, with her mother, Mrs. Sig J. Lang of the Wilshire apartments, Skinker road, have departed on a motor trip to New York and Atlantic coast resorts. They will be away a month.

Miss Mary Jane Hassman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Hassman, Hanley road and Washington avenue, who has been attending school in New York this winter, departed today for Washington, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Charles J. Kiger of New York. They will be joined June 10 by Charles Kiger Jr., a student at Dartmouth College, and will motor to St. Louis to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hassman.

PERSONAL nomination for the best of the female impersonators, after all the years—Julian Eltinge.

MR. ELTINGE recently spent 48 hours in New York, coming from California solely to appear in his old role for 15 minutes at the Lambs Gambol. Since he quit the stage to ranch it de luxe on the coast, the art of female impersonating has become hideous in the night clubs. Eltinge is one of the most masculine of men. At the stage entrance of the Grand Opera House in Cincinnati one night 20 years ago I saw him leave two young hoodlers stretched out in the gutter while a dozen more slunk away. Eltinge was graduated from college dramatics to his stage career and rather against his personal inclination. Yet in his role he was enduring fame, wealth, and is one of the first-dayers to have a New York theater named for him.

Present and Past Depressions

From Editorial Research Reports.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, in his Memorial day address at Valley Forge, asserted: "No one who reviews the past and realizes the vast strength of our people can doubt that this, like a score of similar experiences in our history, is a passing trial."

There have been 13 well defined serious business depressions in the United States since 1854. The present depression, by the gauge of maximum decrease from normal business activity, is the most severe. These 13 depressions have been as follows:

Duration in Mos.	Maximum Percentage Decrease from Normal.
Panic of 1857.....	18
Early Civil War depression.....	23
Depression after Civil War.....	11
Panic of 1873.....	20
Depression of 1884.....	20
Panic of 1893.....	25
Depression of 1890-97.....	22
Rich man's panic of 1903.....	14
Panic of 1907.....	20
Depression of 1911.....	19
Early World War depression.....	15
Depression after World War.....	25
Present depression..... Began Nov. 1929	28.3

The low-water mark of the present depression was reached in January of this year, when the index of business activity stood at 28.3 per cent below normal. It had been at 28.2 per cent below normal in December, 1929. Since then, the index has risen. It was 25 per cent below normal last February, 23.4 per cent below normal in March, and only 22.3 per cent below normal in April. (The figure for April is computed from the preliminary figures on manufacturing and mineral production of the Federal Reserve Board.)

President Hoover, at Valley Forge on Memorial day, said in defense of his refusal to call a special session of Congress: "For the energies of private initiative, of independence and a high degree of individual freedom of our American system, we are offered the... specious claim that hired representatives of a hundred million people can do better than the people themselves in thinking and planning their daily life."

In five of the 12 previous depressions listed above, no special sessions of Congress were called by the President. In four others, matters other than the business depression were responsible for the special session. Lincoln called a special session in 1861 after the Civil War had broken out; Hayes called one in 1877 because of the need for Army and other appropriations; Roosevelt called one in 1903 to ratify a commercial treaty with Cuba, and Taft, one in 1911 to ratify a treaty for tariff reciprocity with Canada. Two of the depressions were indirectly involved in calls for special sessions. McKinley called one soon after taking office in 1897 to remedy the Treasury deficit, chiefly by raising tariff duties, and Harding called one soon after his inauguration in 1921, to provide for Government economy, tax reduction, tariff revision and general legislation.

The one special session called during a depression directly to remedy the depression was called by Cleveland in 1893. His special session proclamation averred that the crisis was due largely to unwise financial legislation which could be changed only by action of Congress. In addition, Van Buren called a special session of Congress during the panic of 1837, to change financial legislation to which the panic was attributed.

DOROTHY NETHERY, WHO WILL GRADUATE AT UNIVERSITY CITY HIGH, accompanies her Mother on a shopping trip to the Knapp Drug Co., 6693 Delmar Blvd., University City, Mo. As Mrs. Nethery wants to bestow a graduation gift that will please, she selects the Parker Duofold. Because of 17.4% greater ink capacity, streamlined, balanced shape, and Pressureless Touch, Parker Pens, as well as Parker Pencils, and Desk Sets, have won every popularity vote among the younger set. Behind the counter, Donald E. Lee.

RECEIVES BIRTHDAY GIFT OF PARKER DUOFOLD PEN. Dan F. Hyland, President of the City Club and Manager of the Alemtic Co., registers appreciation as Ed Lohman presents him with one of the new Burgundy Red and Black Duofold Pens. Mr. Hyland is virtually receiving two gifts in one. For by merely attaching a slender taper, the Parker Pocket Pen is changed over to a Desk Set Pen. Removing the taper restores it for carrying.

LUCKY THE PRIZE WINNER AT THIS BRIDGE LUNCHEON given by Miss Jennie W. Gilmore at the Algonquin Country Club. Mrs. E. T. Rahm (seated) registers her delight over the smart Parker Bridge Pencil Sets. They consist of four bases, each holding a miniature Parker Duofold Pencil in color to match the suit—spade, heart, diamond, or club.

ANTHONY H. WEBER SELECTS GRADUATION GIFT FOR SON, Hilpert Weber, who will receive his diploma at St. Louis University High School. Stopping in at Lipic's, 811 Locust St., Mr. Weber finds a wide choice of gifts. Among the most favored are the matched Parker Pen and Pencil Sets in attractive gift boxes. Marie Lipic suggests Parker's New Burgundy Red and Black Duofold. Its iridescent radiance, like wine-colored crystal, has made it the hit of the year in pens.

MATT F. MORSE, PRESIDENT OF MIDLAND VALLEY COUNTRY CLUB, WINS HANDICAP TOURNAMENT. Here he is receiving the trophy, a Parker Duofold Desk Set, from John M. Wolff Jr., Vice-President of the Club. T. B. Johnson and Carl P. Daniel, also Vice-Presidents and members of the club's handicap committee, are officiating with Mr. Wolff at the presentation.

66 College Papers asked 4256 students

"Which Gift would you rather receive—and which make?"

Yes, 66 college papers have supplied you this gift-guide for youth's great occasion. And if you ask students why so many prefer the Parker Duofold, you will hear:

"Pen guaranteed for life." "Point miraculously smooth—writes without pressure."

"The new Parker streamlined design is the shapeliest of all." "Parker shape holds much additional ink."

Ask why so many prefer Parker Desk Sets and you will hear—"A removable paper converts the Parker from Desk Set Pen to Pocket Pen at will." Thus the students' own choice guides you. So be sure to specify "Parker Duofold."

Supreme Court Makes Allowance to Attorneys Who Recovered Part of $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Attorneys who recovered a part of the $1,000,000 signed away by Jackson Barnett, wealthy Creek Indian, today were allowed fees of $50,000 by the Supreme Court.

At the same time the Court dismissed the appeal of Marshall L. Mott, Muskogee, Ok., from a decision of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals ordering him to return $15,000 to Barnett.

Barnett signed away $1,000,000 that had accumulated to him from oil royalties, half of the money going to his wife, Anna Laura Barnett. She turned over $15,000 to Mott. Suit was brought to recover the money, on the claim Barnett was an imbecile and incapable of realizing what he was doing.

CROWLEY SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR MURDER OF POLICEMAN

Knife Found on "Two-Gun" Killer When He Arrives at Sing Sing.

By the Associated Press. MINEOLA, N. Y., June 1.—Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley, 18-year-old killer, was sentenced today by County Judge Smith to be executed the week of July 5 for the murder of Policeman Frederick Hirsch.

By the Associated Press. OSSING, N. Y., June 1.—A knife three and a half inches long fashioned out of the handle of a spoon was found on Francis Crowley as he was searched in the Sing Sing death house today.

The knife was found inside his stocking, down along the side of his foot.

"What's the idea of this?" Keeper John O'Connor demanded. "Try and guess," replied Crowley with a grin.

$76,190 Tax Overassessment. WASHINGTON, June 1.—A $76,190 overassessment against the 1918 and 1920 incomes of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Co., Manitowoc, Wis., was reported to the joint congressional tax committee today by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The overassessment may be adjusted by a refund, credit or rebate.

TWO MEN OBTAIN $400 IN THEATER BOX OFFICE HOLDUP

Cashier Opens Door at Easton Av. House Without Looking, Thinking the Manager Had Knocked.

Counting receipts in the box office of the Albert Theater, 348 Easton avenue, Miss Lorena Hastet, cashier, heard a knock behind her last night, and thinking it was the manager, opened the door without looking around. Two armed men entered, seized $400 in currency, leaving the change because of its bulk, and fled, disappearing in an alleyway at 4327 Easton.

Albert Lueken, manager of a filling station at Columbia and South-west avenues, put receipts of $150 in a cigar box and went to the Macklind Theater, 5417 Arsenal street, to take his father, John R. Lueken, the manager, home. As they left the building by a side door opening on an alley, two men held them up, taking the cigar box and money.

Leonard Anderson, a Negro residing at the West End Hotel, 398 West Belle place, was held up by another Negro in front of 1211 North Spring avenue, and robbed of his automobile. A few minutes later the robber attempted to hold up George Day, attendant at a filling station at Grand boulevard and Cass avenue. Day struggled and attracted the attention of Patrolman William Ellerbrook, who arrived as the Negro started to drive away. The policeman's shots through the windshield and door caused the robber to drive into the front of the Acme Carpet Cleaning Co., 1442 North Grand, where he was captured. He said his name was Francis Jones. A revolver he carried was found to be unloaded.

The door of the Elk Bottling Co., 1620 North Jefferson avenue, was found open early today and the combination had been knocked from a safe. Max Soule, 5206 Cabanne avenue, manager, said $380 was missing.

Mrs. Mary O'Connell, who operates a rooming house at 5903 Easton avenue, has asked police to look for a man employed a week ago to do odd jobs. The man and two purses containing $151 disappeared Saturday.

PREMIER McDONALD ASSAILS SWEEPSTAKES AS 'ROBBERIES'

"Reflection on Strength of Mind," He Doesn't Know What Can Be Done.

LONDON, June 1.—A denunciation of sweepstakes as "robberies" and, incidentally, of the Irish Derby sweepstakes, was made by Prime Minister MacDonald to the correspondent of the London Daily Mail at Lissiemouth, Scotland, yesterday.

The Prime Minister said the Government had been seriously considering the question of sweepstakes for some time, but the difficulties of dealing with them seemed "overwhelming."

"It is most deplorable," he said, "and a reflection on the strength of mind of the majority of the people of this country that, especially in a time of economic depression, millions of dollars are devoted to this form of gambling on the pretext that it is to aid hospitals."

"Thousands of people are losing money that ought to be spent aiding British industry and providing the supports of life. It makes one almost despair and gives a feeling that civilization is crumbling."

BRUENING, GERMAN CABINET PREPARING ECONOMY DECREES

Chancellor Wants to Have Emergency Measures Ready Before Meeting Ramsay MacDonald.

BERLIN, June 1.—Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius, who will go to England on Wednesday to confer with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, sat with the Cabinet today to prepare emergency decrees which would cut new economies into effect.

The Chancellor wants to have the decrees ready for President von Hindenburg's signature before he goes to London, but it will be no easy task to reconcile the demand for higher taxes on the upper brackets of income with the objections of the industrialists to heavier taxes.

As soon as these decrees are in shape, Bruening and Curtius will confer with various departmental chiefs in preparation for the meeting with England's Prime Minister.

319 Manila Reds Arrested. MANILA, June 1.—Three hundred and 19 alleged Communists were held here today for investigation in connection with a meeting police raided Saturday night. Among those held was Crispin Evangelista, who previously had been arrested several times on similar charges. All asserted the gathering was not a Communist meeting, but the annual congress of a labor organization.

KILLED BY PASSING AUTO AS HE STEPS FROM CAR ON ROAD

George A. Webster of St. Louis Fatally Injured on Highway Near Pinckneyville, Illinois.

George A. Webster, 34 years old, truck driver, 3729 Pennsylvania avenue, died at Missouri Baptist Hospital last night from injuries suffered Saturday afternoon when struck by an automobile near Pinckneyville, Ill.

Webster was driving his own machine, accompanied by his wife, on a holiday trip to Cairo, Ill., when the motor stalled on State Highway No. 13, about five miles west of Pinckneyville. The car stopped, and Webster alighted to investigate the trouble. As he stepped onto the pavement he was hit by another automobile which had been following him. It was raining at the time.

After treatment by a physician at Pinckneyville, Webster was taken to a hospital at Duquoin, Ill., last night he was brought to the hospital here, but died several minutes after arrival. It was said at Duquoin that he appeared to have suffered internal injuries and paralysis of the legs.

The driver of the machine which struck Webster said he was S. E. Senburg, a merchant, 208 West Main street, Collinsville. He was released after he had made a report to State Highway Patrolman Clarence Fannon.

Found Under Auto; Dies of Fractured Skull. Henry J. Fehrenbach, 42 years old, of Oakville, died at Alexian Brothers' Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull suffered Saturday, when his automobile upset on Forder road, St. Louis County. He was found at noon pinned beneath his machine in a ditch. The cause of the accident was not learned, as Fehrenbach died without making a statement.

Man, 73, Hit by Auto April 25, Dies of Injuries. Peter Lyga, 73, 1415 South Eighth street, died at Missouri Baptist Hospital last Wednesday of injuries suffered April 25, when he was struck by an automobile. He suffered fractured ribs and head injuries when he was struck by a machine driven by John Kersting of Jennings, at Seventh boulevard and Barry street.

Eight Persons Hurt in Collision; Other Accidents. Eight persons were injured last night in a collision between two automobiles at Arlington and Ridge avenues. The injured: Miss Dorothy Mather and Miss Mildred Witt-hoff, student nurses, 721 Belt avenue; David Miller, 55 Vandeventer place; John Windlich, 2805 Ashland avenue; Harry Prentice, 16 1/2 North Ninth street; Mrs. Minnie Prentice; Jack Davis, 16 1/2 1017 Cass avenue, and Virginia Sparkes, 5, 1119 Frey street. Miss Witt-hoff suffered a fractured collarbone. The others were cut and bruised. The Prentice machine, in which five children, including the two injured, were riding, upset.

KILLED BY PASSING AUTO AS HE STEPS FROM CAR ON ROAD

George A. Webster of St. Louis Fatally Injured on Highway Near Pinckneyville, Illinois.

George A. Webster, 34 years old, truck driver, 3729 Pennsylvania avenue, died at Missouri Baptist hospital last night from injuries suffered Saturday afternoon when struck by an automobile near Pinckneyville, Ill.

Webster was driving his own machine, accompanied by his wife, on a holiday trip to Cairo, Ill., when the motor stalled on State Highway No. 15, about five miles west of Pinckneyville. The car stopped quickly and Webster alighted to investigate the trouble. As he stepped onto the pavement he was hit by another automobile which had been following him. It was raining at the time.

After treatment by a physician at Pinckneyville, Webster was taken to a hospital at Duquoin, Ill. He was brought to the hospital here, but died several minutes after arrival. It was said at Duquoin that he appeared to have suffered internal injuries and paralysis of the legs.

The driver of the machine which struck Webster said he was S. Jacobburg, a merchant, 208 West Main street, Collinsville. He was released after he had made a report to State Highway Patrolman Lawrence Fannon.

Found Under Auto; Dies of Fractured Skull.

Henry J. Fehrenbach, 42 years old, of Oakville, died at Alexian Brothers' Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull suffered Saturday, when his automobile upset on Vander road, St. Louis County. He was found at noon pinned beneath his machine in a ditch. The cause of the accident was not learned, as Fehrenbach died without making a statement.

Killed by Auto April 25, Dies of Injuries.

Police learned yesterday that Peter Liza, 73, 1415 South Eighth street, died at Missouri Baptist hospital last Wednesday of injuries suffered April 25, when he was struck by an automobile. He suffered fractured ribs and head injuries when he was struck by a machine driven by John Kersting of Jennings at Seventh boulevard and Barry street.

Eight Persons Hurt in Collision; All Accidents.

Eight persons were injured last night in a collision between two automobiles at Arlington and Ridge avenues. The injured: Miss Dorothy Matter and Miss Mildred Wittthoff, student nurses, 721 Belt avenue; David Miller, 55 Vandeventer street; John Windlich, 3505 Ashland avenue; Harry Prentice, 1814 North Ninth street; Mrs. Minnie Prentice; Jack Davis, 10, 1017 Mass avenue, and Virginia Sparky. Miss Wittthoff suffered a fractured collarbone. The others were cut and bruised. The Prentice machine, in which the children, including the two injured, were riding, upset.

GRAND JURY TOLD TO PUSH INQUIRY IN GRAND-BANK THEFT

Judge Green Says Investigation of Robbery and Return of Bonds Should Be Continued.

In his instructions to the June term grand jury, empaneled today, Circuit Judge Green recommended a continuation of investigation of the million-dollar Grand National Bank robbery and of "the peculiar circumstances under which certain bonds were recovered and returned."

His reference was to the return, last January, of $222,000 worth of bonds taken in the burglary of the Grand National vault, May 25, 1930. State Representative Joseph L. Lemon, lawyer who brought the bonds back to St. Louis and received a fee said to have been $15,000, has refused to say where or how he got them.

"It would be a reproach to the administration of justice in our city," Judge Green told the grand jurors, "if there should be any slackening of effort or energy in continuing the investigation of what is known as the Grand Avenue Bank robbery case and of all incidents connected therewith, particularly the peculiar circumstances under which certain bonds were recovered and returned."

Quotes the Statute.

"I call your attention to the provisions of Section 1394, Revised Statutes of 1929, which provide, in part, that any person having a knowledge of the actual commission of any offense punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, who shall take any money, property of another, or any gratuity or reward, or any promise, undertaking or engagement therefore, upon agreement or understanding, expressed or implied, to compound or conceal such crime or to abstain from any prosecution therefore or withhold any evidence thereof, shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not to exceed five years."

"Whether there has been any violation of the provisions of this statute, is a matter for you, as grand jurors, to determine after hearing the facts in the case. You will have the co-operation of the Circuit Attorney's office and the Police Department in any investigation you make, and I am sure that I shall have the united efforts of your body in an endeavor to assist in the enforcement of our criminal law."

When the April grand jury made its final report last Friday there was no mention of the Grand National Bank robbery, although Circuit Judge Ryan had instructed the jury to investigate it. He questioned the jurors and Circuit Attorney Miller explained an investigation was being conducted, but was not ready to be submitted. Judge Green, in continuing his instructions today, pointed out the number of automobile fatalities so far this year, as compared with murders and cases of manslaughter.

Cites Number of Deaths.

"I had occasion in my instructions to the December grand jury," he said, "to call attention to the provisions of our statutes covering the operation of motor vehicles, and I feel the necessity of emphasizing the same matter at this time. A great many of the cases on the dockets of our civil courts are founded and based on the alleged negligence of the operators of automobiles, as a result of which the plaintiffs claim that they sustained injuries and consequent damage. I am informed that since the first of January, 1931, 35 persons died as a result of killing at the hands of individuals and that during the same period of time, 22 persons lost their lives in consequence of the possible reckless operation of automobiles, or more than twice as many as those who lost their lives in what might be termed murders or other means of inflicted death."

Now Remove Nasty Yellow

"You've a Mouth I'd Love to Kiss!"

Whiten Teeth 3 Shades in 3 Days

Nobody likes to look at teeth that are dull, dingy, yellow, discolored or eaten away by decay. And there's now no reason why you should have such teeth. They're unnatural. And the new scientific Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique proves they're unnatural—by removing stain and yellow, and making teeth gleaming white.

Try this technique for a few days... A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. You'll note an improvement after the first brushing. Your mouth will feel cleaner than ever. And in just 3 days teeth will look whiter—fully 3 shades whiter. Gums will feel firmer and look healthier. All because Kolynos does what no ordinary toothpaste can do—it kills the millions of germs that cause most tooth and gum troubles. And cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL NAKED WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. Kolynos is unique—unlike anything you've ever used. The very moment it enters the mouth it FOAMS, thus permitting the use of a dry brush which makes Kolynos 10 times more effective. This penetrating FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny pit, crevice and crevice. It erases tartar and yellow—washes away the unsightly mucoid coating. It kills the millions of germs that swarm into the mouth with every breath and attack teeth and gums—kills 190 million in the first 15 seconds. Easily and quickly this remarkable Kolynos FOAM cleans teeth gleaming white and keeps them sound. It stimulates gums and keeps the breath sweet and fresh. If you really want sound, dazzling white teeth and firm, coral pink gums, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist today.

THINKS EDUCATION CAN CORRECT ECONOMIC EVILS

President Hutchins of Chicago U. Addresses Berea Graduates; Gets L.L.D. From Father.

By the Associated Press.
BEREA, Ky., June 1.—Under- standing rather than knowledge and an educational system which puts a premium on independent thinking, were offered here today by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, as remedies for the economic and political ills of today.

Dr. Hutchins, in a commencement address at Berea College, expressed the opinion that "our present situation results far more from the inadequacy of our educational program than from the failure of our political and social aims. The world has created too much for us."

Dr. Hutchins received an L.L.D. degree from the college. It was presented by his father, Dr. W. J. Hutchins, president of Berea. A similar degree was conferred upon Sir Wilfred Thomason Grenfell of Labrador.

"We have all the knowledge in the world," said Robert Hutchins. "Our insight, understanding, our appreciation of values, our ideas are not strong enough to deal with it. We have more money, food, more things, and more power than at any period in history. And yet we are poorer, hungrier, more helpless, and more confused than ever before."

"I would insist that the obligation of the educated person is more to understand than to know. We like to feel that our colleges and universities are training leaders for our democracy. The leaders of the next generation will not be those who have memorized the Encyclopedia Britannica. They will be those who can see and learn essential facts, and who can develop ideas. They will be those who have a perspective on the world and its values."

MEXICAN SECRET: POLICE CHIEF HELD FOR EXPLOITING OFFICE

Charged With Getting Money From Chinese to Export Their Rivals; Others Arrested.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, June 1.—An alleged blackmail scheme, said to involve high Government officials, yesterday resulted in the arrest of Pablo Meneses, chief of the secret police of the Interior Department; Fernando Palacios, a high-ranking member of the Presidential military staff, and Gonzalo Vertiz, a civilian. Gen. Augustin Mora, commander of the military staff, was ordered by President Ortiz Rubio to place himself at the disposition of court authorities pending an investigation. The Department of the Interior said Meneses had been "provisionally" relieved of his post. He is accused of receiving money from Chinese who desired their enemies deported. Nicerfero Guerrero, Federal District Prosecutor, said money had been extorted to obtain the expulsion from Mexico of 37 members of a rival tong. Mora's name was mentioned only indirectly, but the President instructed him to report to court authorities. Ministerial Alliance Outing.

on the Camel Quarter Hour

Every night except Sunday at 9:30 p. m., St. Louis time over the Columbia Broadcasting System

ON the street of a million lights called Broadway has risen a bright new star, Morton Downey. To shop girls and debutantes, to men and women of every age, of every walk in life, the silver magic of his lilting tenor has won for him at twenty-nine, the plaudits of the most critical city in the world.

When he sang on the great stage at the Paramount Theater, crowds stormed the doors to hear him. At a popular night club where he was featured, dancers stopped to listen, held by the spell of his song.

Now Morton Downey brings his great gift to radio!

Every night, except Sunday, he will thrill America on the Camel Quarter Hour with a repertory of song over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

HOMELESS WAIFS ARE SALVAGED IN RUSSIA

Once Numbering 750,000,
Wayward Youths Are Now Trained for Useful Life.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, June 1.—Russia's wild youth, known as "besprizorniki" or homeless waifs, are being tamed and educated and taught to work. A Government statement says there now are fewer than 4500 of these waifs in Soviet Russia. By the end of this year authorities expect they will have been entirely eradicated.

The Government is proud of its accomplishment with these children, in view of the fact that after the famine of 1921 the homeless waifs throughout the Soviet Union numbered approximately 150,000. In rags and tatters and driven by hunger they roamed aimlessly through the streets and byways, becoming pickpockets, thieves, bandits and general public menaces.

Traveling in gangs they robbed and even killed strangers on lonely roads. Foreigners with watches, fountain pens and rings as well as money were often their victims.

Most of these homeless waifs were an aftermath of the revolution. Many families were so poverty stricken they were unable to feed their children.

Homes Built for Them.

The Government quickly recognized the danger and the All Russian Central Executive Committee appointed a commission with special instructions to corral the wild youth and install them in homes hurriedly erected.

Aided by the "ogpu," political police, the regular police seized hundreds of thousands of them on the streets and placed them in homes or labor communes, where they were strictly disciplined, given a rudimentary education and taught trades.

On reaching the age of 15 or 16 they were sent to factories, apprentice schools or to various other enterprises. However, the most effective way of combatting the problem was through the state collective farms.

To Redeem Rather Than Punish.

In efforts to overcome the homelessness the Government spent about $25,000,000 during 1930.

In the matter of crime, the Soviets go on the theory of correction rather than punishment and special efforts are made to redeem wayward youths between the ages of 15 and 20.

Numerous reform schools have been started, the most famous being the prison colony for youths operated by the "ogpu" near Moscow. This is unique in that the youthful inmates run the place themselves, under the honor system. There are no guards, cells or prison walls.

In this school the youths learn farming trades and when they become 21 years old they are required to obtain jobs.

STREET CAR AND BUS LINES

FIGHT E. ST. LOUIS SERVICE CARS

Petition Illinois Commission to Ban Competitors Unless Latter Obtain State Certificate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 1.—Three companies operating street cars and motor busses in East St. Louis, today asked the Illinois Commerce Commission to stop the operation of service cars in East St. Louis by 129 individuals composing the Red, White and Blue Service Car Drivers of East St. Louis.

The complaining companies are the East St. Louis Railway Co., the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co., and the Blue Goose Motor Coach Co., Inc. They ask the commission for an order compelling the service car drivers to cease operation until they secure a certificate from the commission.

The complainants set forth that the 129 persons involved operate automobiles in direct competition with the busses and street cars of the complainants who have the commissions certificate to operate.

Operation of these service cars costs the complaining companies not less than $100 a day in revenue and the loss if continued, the petition states, may eventually force the abandonment of street railway service.

ABANDONS NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM JAPAN TO U. S.

Thomas Ash Jr. Says His Plane Failed to Come Up to Expectations.

TOKIO, June 1.—A Rengo Agency dispatch from Sanushiro today said Thomas Ash Jr., has abandoned his proposed non-stop flight across the Pacific and was returning to Tokio.

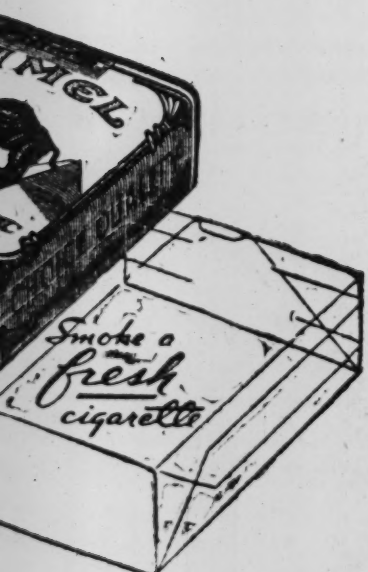

Ash's abandonment of the flight is attributed to the failure of his plane to come up to expectations in several particulars. The message said the motor failed to run perfectly and had developed only enough power for 1650 revolutions a minute when at least 1850 were needed to rise with his heavy load of fuel.

The failure of a detachable dolly which Ash used in the place of a tail skid was listed also as a factor in his decision to abandon the project. The message also mentioned a bent left auxiliary wing and said Ash had found the plane did not respond properly to the controls.

HOUSEHOLD WISDOM FROM MANY SOURCES

Stray Paragraph Often Helps Solve a Difficult Cookery Problem.

It is always wise to keep the containers in tightly covered as they absorb odors very easily.
Steaming hot biscuits, muffins or golden, crispy toast accompanied by fresh jam, cannot be resisted for breakfast, luncheon or dinner.
To remove any musty odor, wash
the boxes, shelves and ice cube compartments with a strong solution of baking soda and water.
The rinse with clear water.
An omelet to be at its best must be served as soon as it is taken from the pan. It is good served with butter, although some people enjoy them most with jelly or a sauce.

A sink strainer is a great time saver. All scraps from cooking that are to be put into the garbage should be drained in a sink strainer and emptied after each meal.
It will not harm plain cookie dough to stand overnight if it is kept in a cool place. It will be much easier to handle, especially if fancy cookies are to be made.

Remove the broiling rack before heating the oven. Always leave the lower door open while broiling to prevent smoke and smell.

A few years ago cabbage was thought to be unfit for eating unless it cooked for an hour or more, now six to 12 minutes suits some, while others still believe 20 is better.

Cover all dishes of food before putting away. Reserve one portion of the icebox for left overs, being readily seen they serve as reminders in planning meals.

Main courses of meals have taken on more intelligence in the last few years. One seldom sees a rich and heavy dessert served to complete a rich and heavy dinner.
To clarify fat that has been used for frying, add several squares of stale bread to the lukewarm fat and gradually heat to about 400 degrees F. The bread will absorb part of the foreign matter, while the balance of the sediment will settle in the kettle and the clear fat may be poured off easily.

A many compartment dish is useful for holding tea accessories.
Thin slices of lemon and orange may have whole cloves stuck in them. Maraschino cherries, candied orange peel, chopped preserved ginger, tiny mints, candied rose petals and violets give delightful flavors to the tea.

Raisins may be classed among the highly concentrated foods, as they are high in sugar and contain fat, protein and mineral matter.
Because of their abundant food value and richness they lend themselves to many cooking purposes.

A good way to have the skins soft when the potatoes are baked is to oil them after they have been thoroughly washed, and before they are placed in the oven to bake. Always prick the potatoes with a fork when you take them from the oven so as to let the steam escape. This will keep the potatoes from becoming soggy.
Since peanut butter is highly concentrated, it need not be used in large quantities, nor should it be combined with strongly flavored foods which have a tendency to hide the delicious peanut flavor.
Most chipped beef requires a little freshening if too salty. Care must be taken though not to allow the boiling water to stand on the beef more than a few seconds or the flavor of the beef will be spoiled.

Meringues on lemon or other pies should be browned very slowly, so slowly that it will take about 15 or 20 minutes. If a hot oven is used, it will simply be another case of "haste making waste," for the top of the meringue will be heated so much that it becomes tough and will not cut, while the under portion is heated so little that it is still raw and watery and will fall when taken out of the oven.

Banana Ambrosia.

Cut and mix thoroughly two bananas, one cup grapes, one orange and two pineapple rings. Chill before serving. If desired, add a sprinkling of sugar. Serves three.
This quickly prepared dish furnishes an attractive way to serve the fresh fruit which adds so much to the health value of any meal.
May be used either as a fruit cup at the beginning of a meal or as a dessert at the end.

In Case of Necessity.

When necessity requires using bread flour in a recipe calling for cake flour, it is good to know that two tablespoons less for each cup will be needed. That is, if the recipe calls for two cups cake flour use one and three-fourths cups bread flour to secure the same results. Flour should always be sifted before measuring unless specified otherwise.

For Fruit Salads.

Try whipping a stiffly beaten egg white into one-fourth cup mayonnaise for spring fruit salads.
Sweeten slightly and chill thoroughly.

SOME FANCY ICE CUBES

Make Flavored Ice Cubes in Mechanical Refrigerator Trays.

Fill the divisions in the tray with cold water and put a piece of mint in each ice compartment. A cherry or colored grapes may be used also.
Grated pineapple may be diluted with an equal amount of cold water and frozen and served in lemonade or fruit punch.

Very strong tea may be poured into the ice compartment and frozen.
When ready to serve iced tea, put a cube in each glass and add cold water—and presto, the tea is made.

This should be allowed to freeze at least three hours.

Stuffed Eggs a la Russe.

Prepare hard-cooked eggs with a filling of minced onion, parsley and salad dressing, well rounded over each half. Serve with Russian dressing (chili sauce with mayonnaise).

Chives for Seasoning.

Chives are useful for flavoring salad dressing, creamed potatoes, many cream soups, meat or fish sauces, etc. Cut off what is needed with the scissors, keep the roots watered and the chives will go on growing for a month or more.
Chives belong to the onion family, are very delicate in flavor and in appearance resemble a bunch of slender, tall grass.

Dessert Not Necessary.

A dessert is not absolutely necessary but adds interest and flavor to the diet. Some simple and very good ones include bread, rice or Indian pudding and shortcake made with dried fruit.

Use Raw Foods for Soups.

Uncooked materials yield more juices for soup-making than do those which have been cooked.
Soup of better flavor is secured when the greater part of the ingredients used are raw.

NATION-WIDE STORES Recipe Contest

More than $3,000.00 in Cash Prizes

JUST WRITE A RECIPE

Here Is Your Opportunity to Earn a Cash Prize Each Week . . . and Be Among the Grand Prize Winners. A Cook Book for Every Participant.

RULES OF CONTEST

1. Address all communications to the Contest Editor, Nation-Wide Stores, 8th and Clark, St. Louis, Mo.
2. The contest is open to all women and will run for 20 consecutive weeks, beginning Monday, January 26, and ending the week of June 7, 1931.
3. The contest is open to all except the employees of the Nation-Wide Stores and their families, or any employee of his family of the firm whose product is the prize subject for this week.
4. Every woman is eligible to submit a recipe each week. You can win a prize each week.
5. Write a recipe including Our Mother's Cocoa, which is the prize subject this week.
6. In your recipes, specify the amount of each ingredient used, the process of mixing, the manner of serving, and, if cooked,

New Winners Posted Every Tuesday at all Nation-Wide Stores

7. the time required. Recipes must mention product used, such as Aro Butter, Hardy's Salt, Jack Frost Baking Powder, etc.
8. Write clearly, with pen or pencil or type your recipes on one side of the paper; one recipe to each sheet. Be sure to include your name and address ON THE SAME PAGE with your recipe.
9. Recipes will be judged by the food manufacturer for originality and culinary merit. The decision of the judges is final.
10. You may submit as many recipes each week as you desire.
11. Recipes must be mailed by midnight Friday, June 5th, to be eligible for this week's prize.
12. The prize winning names on Our Mother's Cocoa will be posted in all Nation-Wide Stores on Tuesday, June 16th. Watch for them!

Fun, writing recipes! It is a pleasure to make up these attractive food combinations. With money for doing something you like to do. Simple, too. Imagine if you can, being winner of one of the 30 prizes offered each week. Or you may experience that happy surprise of being the winner of the grand prize of $500.00. Someone will get it. Why not try for it? Take a few minutes to think out a prize winner. Send it at once. Look for next week's contest—try again. Interesting, isn't it? The contest will continue for 20 weeks.

The 20 first weekly prize winners will be the winners of the grand prizes. Some of these will get more but none less than $35.00.

These grand prize awards will be made at the end of the 20 weeks. All the weekly awards will be made as soon as the judges announce the winners.

Regardless of whether or not you win a prize, you will receive one of the cook books containing the recipes of the 1st, 2d and 3d weekly prize winners if you enter the contest with a recipe. See the list of cash prizes. Read and follow the rules—that is very important. Your recipe must include Our Mother's Cocoa, the article featured this week. Address your recipe to: Recipe Contest Dept., Nation-Wide Stores, 8th and Clark Av., St. Louis, Mo.

This quickly prepared dish furnishes an attractive way to serve the fresh fruit which adds so much to the health value of any meal. May be used either as a fruit cup at the beginning of a meal or as a dessert at the end.

In Case of Necessity.
When necessity requires using bread flour in a recipe calling for cake flour, it is good to know that two tablespoons less for each cup will be needed. That is, if the recipe calls for two cups cake flour use one and three-fourths cups bread flour to secure the same results. Flour should always be sifted before measuring unless specified otherwise.

For Fruit Salads.
Try whipping a stiffly beaten egg white into one-fourth cup mayonnaise for spring fruit salads. Sweeten slightly and chill thoroughly.

Staffed Eggs a la Russe.
Prepare hard-cooked eggs with a filling of minced onion, parsley and salad dressing, well rounded over each half. Serve with Russian dressing (chili sauce with mayonnaise).

Use Raw Foods for Soups.
Uncooked materials yield more juices for soups than do those which have been cooked. Soup of better flavor is secured when the greater part of the ingredients used are raw.

SOME FANCY ICE CUBES

Make Flavored Ice Cubes in Mechanical Refrigerator Trays. Fill the divisions in the tray with cold water and put a piece of mint in each ice compartment. A cherry or colored grapes may be used also. Grated pineapple may be diluted with an equal amount of cold water and frozen and served in lemonade or fruit punch.

Very strong tea may be poured into the ice compartment and frozen. When ready to serve iced tea, put a cube in each glass and add cold water—and presto, the tea is made.

This should be allowed to freeze at least three hours.

Staffed Eggs a la Russe.

Prepare hard-cooked eggs with a filling of minced onion, parsley and salad dressing, well rounded over each half. Serve with Russian dressing (chili sauce with mayonnaise).

Use Raw Foods for Soups.

Uncooked materials yield more juices for soups than do those which have been cooked. Soup of better flavor is secured when the greater part of the ingredients used are raw.

Chives for Seasoning.

Chives are useful for flavoring salad dressing, creamed potatoes, many cream soups, meat or fish sauces, etc. Cut off what is needed with the scissors, keep the roots watered and the chives will go on growing for a month or more. Chives belong to the onion family, are very delicate in flavor and in appearance resemble a bunch of slender, tall grass.

Dessert Not Necessary.

A dessert is not absolutely necessary but adds interest and flavor to the diet. Some simple and very good ones include bread, rice or Indian pudding and shortcake made with dried fruit.

products obtainable from all sources as to quality and retail selling price. The result of this survey is that, today, Kroger announces the definite policy of handling ONLY U. S. Government-Inspected Meats.

We feel that we owe this public announcement to the housewives and other customers of our Greater St. Louis stores, in order that they may continue to purchase their meat requirements from us with perfect confidence, plus the additional assurance that every pound has been inspected and approved by the U. S. Government.

AFTERNOON TEA FOR THE GIRL GRADUATE

Sandwiches in Variety New Fail to Please an Afternoon Gathering.

These closing days of the year are given over to the graduates, not, however, to the exclusion of the boy graduate. The custom prevails to reward the pretty girl graduate with a luncheon or a tea. The latter is of entertainment is more easily arranged and equally as enjoyable for the honoree and her friends, especially if it be a mixed tea. All that is necessary for a successful tea is an attractive room or a delightful open porch, piazza, as a setting for the tea table. For the tea table a floral centerpiece is most attractive; a large old-fashioned bouquet of purple spring flowers filling a low bowl. Tall silver compotes of nuts, candies; dainty candelabra and colored waxen tapers; a punch bowl filled with fruited mousse; plates of delicious sandwiches and attractive small cakes and Russian tea and iced cold punch will make the tea table a thing of joy to the guests.

While open-faced sandwiches are the food mode it is well to provide the other kind, too, as many persons object to the open-faced variety as being too messy. In serving mixed sandwiches, is quite proper to pile several of the two slice variety in the middle of the plate and arrange the open-faced tidbits around the outer edge of the plate. In this way, the guest may exercise a choice.

Afternoon Tea Sandwich.
A delectable tea sandwich made with one-half cup prunes, one-half cup dates, one-half cup raisins, one-half cup figs, cream cheese, nuts and salt. Put through food chopper, using the blade. Mix with cream cheese and add a little salt and a few fine chopped nuts. Spread between two thin, crisp crackers. The sandwich may be served open if preferred. If it is, garnish with a bit of preserved ginger.

Rolls Chicken Sandwiches.
Slice thin bread and spread with creamed butter, to which has been added salt and celery salt to appetite. Have minced cooked chicken combined with enough mayonnaise to hold meat together. Remove crust from the bread slice and spread bread with the chicken mixture. Roll up each, slice quickly and tie with a narrow ribbon. Wrap in waxed paper and then damp cloth until ready to serve.

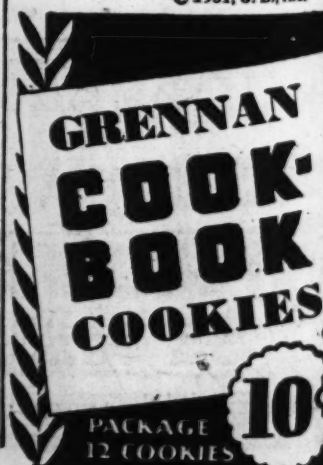

Cocoanut Sandwiches.
Add cocoanut to orange marmalade and mix well. Cut white bread very thin, butter slightly and spread filling between slices. Cut out with fancy cutter if desired.

Daisy Sandwiches.
This pretty tidbit is made with graham bread cut in rounds. Spread rounds with creamed butter, mixed with minced parsley and lemon juice. Cut blanched almonds in halves lengthwise and arrange five halves petal fashion on each round of bread, using raisins at centers.

Honey Nut Sandwich.
For a sweet sandwich, chop meats and mix with just enough honey to hold together. Or, mix chopped nut meats into jelly, using plenty of the nuts.

Veal Cutlet Italian.
Fry the cutlet in butter until brown on both sides. Remove from pan and fry one chopped onion in butter until a golden brown. Add three tablespoons flour and blend. Add one cup stock, one tablespoon vinegar and stir until smooth. Then add three tablespoons chopped pickles, three tablespoons chopped olives, three tablespoons chopped chives, two tablespoons chopped parsley, one sprig of thyme. Return cutlet to pan, cover tightly and simmer for 15 minutes. Serve on a platter with the sauce poured over it.

AFTERNOON TEA FOR THE GIRL GRADUATE

Sandwiches in Variety Never Fail to Please an Afternoon Gathering.

The custom prevails to reward the pretty girl graduate with luncheon or a tea. The latter type of entertainment is more easily arranged and equally as enjoyable for the honoree and her friends, especially if it be a mixed tea. All that is necessary for a successful tea is an attractive large room or a delightful open porch or piazza as a setting for the tea table. For the tea table, a central centerpiece is most attractive; a large old-fashioned bouquet of pansy spring flowers filling a low bowl. Tall silver compotes of nuts and candies; dainty candelabra and colored waxen tapers; a punch bowl filled with fruited mousers; plates of delicious sandwiches and attractive small cakes and Russian tea and iced cold punch will make the tea table a thing of joy to the guests.

NEW AND TASTY WAYS WITH VEGETABLES

Flattness in Vegetable Dishes Comes From Not Seasoning Them Properly.

Turnips generally are served with a cream or butter sauce or are mashed. A distinctive way of preparing this vegetable is to dress up plain diced boiled turnips with a dressing made with green pepper.

Drop three cups diced white or yellow turnips into boiling water to cover and boil gently for 20 minutes. Drain and add five tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper.

The green pepper sauce is made with two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, three-fourths cup milk, one-half cup grated onion.

one cup chopped green peppers and four tablespoons cold water. Cream butter and flour; add top milk and cook in double boiler 15 minutes. Cook grated onion and chopped green pepper in cold water five minutes. Add to cream sauce and serve on turnips.

Celery Croole.
Celery croole is another highly seasoned vegetable dish which has great appetite appeal. Use two cups diced celery, one and one-fourth cups boiling water, three slices bacon, one-half cup onion, grated, three tablespoons chopped green pepper, one-half cup tomato juice, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Drop diced celery into boiling water and boil gently 15 minutes; then drain. Place finely chopped bacon in frying pan and cook gently to golden color. Add grated onion and chopped green pepper and cook five minutes. Stir in tomato juice and cooked celery. Turn in caselets or baking dish; add seasonings, cover and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees) 25 minutes.

Masked Beets.
Select beets of uniform size—not very large so that they may be thoroughly cooked in a reasonable time. Cook of medium sized ones in boiling salted water until they are tender. Drain, peel and slice. Four three-fourths cup boiling water over them. Melt one tablespoon of fat, add one and one-half tablespoons flour and a few grains of salt and pepper. Add the liquid from the beets slowly and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add one teaspoon vinegar, add the sliced beets and re-heat before serving.

Baked Stuffed Cucumbers.
Four tablespoons chopped onion, four tablespoons parsley, minced, four tablespoons celery, four tablespoons water, three tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, three medium-sized cucumbers, one-half cup milk and one cup dry bread crumbs.

Cooked chopped onion, parsley, celery and water five minutes. Add butter and seasonings. Pare cucumbers and cut in pieces crosswise. Remove seed portion and stuff with vegetable mixture. Place in baking dish, pour over milk and top with dry bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees) 45 minutes.

Royal Green Onions.
Cook the small green onions (scallions) in boiling salted water until they are tender. Drain and serve with a white sauce or melted butter. They may be eaten in somewhat the same manner as asparagus.

Panned Ham.
This savory method of preparing cold boiled ham calls for six slices cold boiled ham, two tablespoons ham or bacon fat, three tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon dry mustard and two teaspoons sugar. Heat the ham or bacon fat in a frying pan and cook the slices of ham in it until slightly browned and thoroughly heated. Place on a serving dish and add to the fat remaining in the pan the vinegar, mustard and sugar; stir all well together and pour over the slices of ham.

Salmon Cocktail.
Place five pieces of canned asparagus around edge of each cocktail glass, letting tops be higher than glass rim. Mix seasoned tomato juice with small amount of vinegar, chill. Mix diced raw carrots, diced celery, diced white turnip, chopped raw cabbage and finely flaked canned salmon. Place in glass and cover with tomato juice mixture.

ENTICING SMALL CAKES FOR AFTERNOON TEAS

The Very Things to Serve With Fancy Beverages and Fruit-Ed Drinks.

The housewife who entertains extensively cannot possess too many recipes for dainty small cakes and fancy cookies. Here are several new recipes for her to add to her card index.

Chocolate Nut Fingers.
Four egg whites, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-fourth cups powdered sugar, four tablespoons cocoa, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one-half cup walnut meats.

Beat egg whites until frothy; add baking powder and beat until stiff enough to hold in peaks. Then beat in gradually two-thirds cup sugar. Stir remaining sugar with cocoa and fold into egg whites with flavoring. Shape with a spoon or pastry bag on cookie sheet into narrow strips. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in slow oven (250 degrees) 50 to 60 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and put together like lady fingers.

Pecan Drop Cookies.
Three-fourths cup lard, softened, three-fourths cup butter, softened; on cup white sugar, two cups brown sugar, three eggs, one-fourth cup milk, one cup pecan meats, four and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda and one teaspoon cinnamon.

Cream lard and butter; add white and brown sugar and cream again. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add milk and finely chopped nuts. Fold in sifted dry ingredients. Drop from level teaspoon onto cookie sheet and place a pecan on each cookie. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes.

A light and puffy omelet, for breakfast or luncheon, makes an interesting change in the usual menu. It makes an especially delightful dish to serve for the late Sunday morning breakfast.

Breaded Sardines.
Drain the oil from large boneless sardines and dip in cracker and egg, then again cracker dust. Bake in a hot oven until a delicate brown. Serve on strips of toast. Squeeze a few drops of lemon juice on each sardine, garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve.

Almond Frosting.
Twelve ounces of confectioners' sugar, 1 stiffly beaten egg white, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 8 ounces ground almonds, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Mix almonds and sugar together, then add lemon juice and extract. Work in egg white until a stiff paste. Spread on small sponge cakes.

Green Mayonnaise.
Fresh minced parsley or cooked and drained spinach rubbed through a sieve gives the green color to mayonnaise and minced pickle may be added for sharpness.

PROBLEM OF TAX RELIEF DISCUSSED BY GOVERNORS

for the conditions they have created."

The Governor urged that the states assist in the simplification and unification of the local unit, so that they will become more responsive to the public will. He spoke of the "Indiana plan" of controlling local expenditures, explaining that, under the Indiana laws, local budgets and bond issues are subject to review by the State upon appeal of 10 or more taxpayers.

Gov. Woodring called upon the executives to display leadership in a movement to bring about a reduction in local taxes which, he said, are now so high that a trimming is imperative. He informed the other State executives that the annual tax burden of the United States exceeds $12,000,000,000, of which the Federal Government, he said, collects approximately 24 per cent, the States 13 per cent and so-called local units 53 per cent. He then declared that "real" tax relief must be sought through a reduction in local taxes.

Townships Not Needed. He suggested elimination of "overlapping" functions of State, county, city and school officials and departments and reorganization of county and township lines. "The old division of counties and townships," he said, "has been in many cases rendered unnecessary by better transportation facilities. Today a Sheriff, a Coroner, an As-essor and other county officers can adequately serve many times the area and population that could be served before the motor age.

"The township organization in Kansas and in most other states is an obsolete institution and its abolishment would save money without reducing public service." High local taxes, he said, could in many instances be traced to "too much State control." As an illustration, the Governor cited Kansas, pointing out that the Legislature fixes the number of elective and appointive officers for counties and many cities, their salaries and duties, and that State departments require expenditures by local units to meet standards established by the State.

Among the Governors present or scheduled to attend the conference are George White, Ohio; George H. Dorn, Utah; Harvey Parnell, Arkansas; L. G. Hardman, Georgia; Louis L. Emerson, Illinois; Flen D. Sampson, Kentucky; William T. Gardner, Maine; Floyd B. Olson, Minnesota; Henry S. Caulfield, Missouri; J. E. Erickson, Montana; John G. Winant, New Hampshire; O. Max Gardner, North Carolina; George F. Shafer, North Dakota; Ibra C. Blackwood, South Carolina; Stanley C. Wilson, Vermont; John G. Pollard, Virginia, and former Gov. Carey A. Hardee, Florida.

SAYS AMERICAN WHEAT PRICES WERE KEPT ABOVE WORLD LEVEL BY BOARD

year this action was effective, but pressure from the world-wide business depression and consequent decreased consumption made additional measures necessary.

Dumping by Russia. "The Board, accordingly, caused the stabilization corporation to enter the market in February. Approximately 60,000,000 bushels of 1929 wheat had been accumulated when the 1930 harvest began. Owing to an increase in our own wheat production and to world conditions, the board thought stabilization purchases of the new crop would be unwarranted. The Board announced, however, that the 1929 stabilization holdings would not be sold in competition with the farmers' 1930 wheat. This permitted wheat from the Southwest to move freely to the export market when our wheat exports are usually greatest.

"Last November, largely because of Russian dumping, the world market began a sudden decline which threatened to spread to our wheat markets with serious consequences. "When wheat prices dropped about Nov. 15 to close to 70 cents at Chicago, we found out definitely that if the market dropped another cent or two a bushel, at least 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 bushels upon which loans had been made would be dumping on an unwilling market. If this had been done, it was the opinion of some of the best informed grain men in the country, that American wheat prices would have gone considerably below 50 cents a bushel at Chicago.

Meeting an Emergency. "This would have meant not only financial disaster to the farmers who had held their wheat, but probably would have meant the closing of hundreds of banks in the Middle West. The damage this would have done would have been almost incalculable. It would have reached and affected practically every character of business in the country. The losses would have been counted in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

"It is too early yet to cast accounts in dollars and cents for these operations. The Board believes that a fair examination of results, when set against damages that were imminent, will show the credit side of the operation far in excess of the debit side, including any losses that the stabilization corporation may sustain."

Stone pointed out that this version of the stabilization operations was rarely heard when the average business man discussed the Farm Board and its wheat policy.

Furthermore, he was emphatic that the stabilization operations, while important, were by no means so important as the Board's long-time program for reducing wheat acreage in the United States to a point where the world wheat prices, now pulling so heavily on American prices, will have little effect.

Debtors vs. Stabilization. The amount of wheat purchased and held by the Farm Board in order to maintain American prices above world prices is said to be more than 200,000,000 bushels. If this wheat had been exported by the farmers under the export stabilization plan, which was defeated in Congress, the cost to the Government would have been about $42,000,000. Under the debenture plan the exporter was to receive a Government certificate good for one-half the amount of the regular import tariff on the product. The Government was to accept the certificates toward the payment of import duties.

The tariff on wheat is 42 cents a bushel. Thus for each bushel exported the exporter would have to receive a certificate for 21 cents. It was expected these certificates would be readily salable, at small discount, to importers, who would use them toward payment of duties on goods they received from other countries.

Thus, if the farmer had sold his wheat for export on the world market at $1 a bushel he would have received a total of $1.21 a bushel, less a small discount, probably not more than 1 cent. Whether this would have been as effective as the Farm Board's buying program in keeping American prices above world prices, is problematical. Although American wheat prices have slumped along with the world decline, they have up to this time been maintained at about 20 cents a bushel above the world price—about the same premium indicated by the export debenture plan. The cost of the buying program to the Government remains to be seen. It is expected the wheat on hand will have to be sold at a loss.

French Aviators at Marseilles. By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 1.—A Havas dispatch from Marseilles says Mlle. Lena Bernstein, French aviatrix, arrived at the Marseilles Airport yesterday. She left Paris Saturday in an effort to break the world's distance record for straight line flight in a small monoplane and hopes to go as far as Egypt.

SLIGHT EXPANSION IN BUSINESS NOTED IN FEDERAL REPORT

In February and March. A further decline of seasonal proportions occurred in the first half of May. In general, residential building has been holding up better than commercial and industrial types.

"Expansion in manufacturing and mining industries and the seasonal resumption of outdoor work in agriculture and building has brought further improvement in the employment situation, with reduction of part-time work and a shrinkage in the number of unemployed since January." Factory employment, as a whole, has increased by about the normal seasonal amount since the first month of the year, when a low level for the depression was reached. "Rail distribution of freight as measured by car loadings has shown normal seasonal expansion in March and again in April, but shipments of merchandise in the latter month increased less than usual. Dollar sales of department stores in April, after allowance for seasonal trend and the early date of Easter, increased by 8 per cent from March to April, and in the latter month were 2 per cent below the total for April, 1930, and less than 5 per cent below that of April, 1929, despite the decline in retail prices during the last two years."

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. J. J. Galanter, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

High Blood Pressure

THE discovery of the instrument for measuring blood pressure rendered a large service to the medical profession, for the manometer, as the instrument is called, has proved of great value in determining the condition of the patient.

At the same time, however, it has added to the worries of the average man and has made one more topic available for general discussion by the idle and the neurotic.

"I got blood pressure" now runs a close second to "did I ever tell you about my operation?"

High blood pressure is an item of importance, but in most instances is not a disease in itself, but the symptom of or condition associated with certain diseases.

High blood pressure or hypertension may be associated with and may be the result of disease of the kidneys.

Such hypertension usually appears early in life, about the age of 30. It is more common in men than in women. Treatment in this condition, of course, centers primarily on the kidneys.

Hypertension may also be associated with arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries.

This condition appears somewhat later in life. Its existence may not give rise to any symptoms, at least in the early stages, and may be discovered accidentally during a routine of life insurance examination.

Another type of hypertension is called essential hypertension. This type of high blood pressure is not due to either disease of the kidneys or hardening of the arteries.

It occurs most commonly during the middle period of life. One may live long and enjoy full mental and physical vigor though suffering from essential hypertension.

Marshmallow Tapioca

Soak two heaping tablespoons of tapioca over night. Drain and add one pint milk and one-fourth cup sugar. Cook in a double boiler until clear, then add 18 marshmallows, stirring until dissolved. Remove from fire, flavor with vanilla and chill. A custard or fruit sauce will tend to make the pudding particularly interesting.

THE CREDIBLE YEAR

Faith Baldwin

Who wrote 'The Office Wife'

CHAPTER NINETEEN.

JULIE was not like anything he had yet encountered. Or, rather, the only person she reminded him of was that same cousin across the ocean at the outspoken, long-legged stage. So he and Julie got along famously. And the newspapers started to speculate.

Julie's picture, snapped at the Belmont races, appeared. And pretty pictures were drawn of the possible transplanting of the Northern heiress to the ancient castle back in the country of her mother's people.

"Of all the rot!" said Julie scornfully to the Englishman on his last evening in town.

"Isn't it?"

He was a trifle worried. Suppose she took it seriously? Hang it, he liked her—enormously—but the word was pledged, and his heart was pledged more than he knew.

Julie flung the paper across the Desmond's drawing-room. "It's all because your father's a Duke," she said frankly, "and my father left me some money. People make me sick."

"That being the case," asked Robert, "you're not angry, or miffed, or anything, are you?"

"No," answered Julie abstractedly. "Then she suggested, with a sudden change of mood, 'Let's get out my car and find some people and go somewhere.'"

"Where?"

"You choose."

"Coney Island," answered his lordship after a moment. "I've always wanted to go there. One reads about it at home."

"I've never been," remembered Julie, wide-eyed.

Then she recalled that Bruce had promised to take her.

"I was early in the evening. She rang him up at his rooms and demanded:

"I want to go to Coney Island. Come on up, quick!"

"But, Julie, I haven't seen you for a week!"

"Her tone was tragic. If her statement were not strictly true, Bruce laughed and then sighed.

"Very well, I'll come," he said. "Or will you pick me up?"

She got the Barrett twins and Pat Jordan, and they foregathered and piled into the car and drove off easily to pick up Bruce, who was a little annoyed when he saw the proportions the party had reached.

It was a warm night. Coney Island was crowded. Going down, they had fairly to crawl in the procession of cars filled with old people, young people, peevish sailors, enemies and friends. And when they approached the band, Julie and the Englishman passed.

The lights were blazoned across the sky—signs, omens, and wheels of light turning slowly. The bandy main street, as they rode down it, was raucous with voices, with perching men shouting promises of wonders to come from their little pulpits.

They parked the car, and Pat went to the party in hand.

"Where to?"

"Everywhere—everything!" demanded Julie, while the Barrett girls remarked in unison.

"The sky's the limit!"

They went to Luna and took a ride at the chutes. They were in little boats through paper, each tunnel peppered with red lights, where a turn of the little saucily brought them to strange and exciting scenes in miniature. They went into the place where South Sea Island pictures were shown and where alleged South Sea Islanders gyrated slowly to ukuleles and steel guitars. They rode on the scenic railways, the Barrett girls shrieking, the Englishman murmuring "My turn!" beneath his breath, and Julie silent, clutching Bruce's hand hard on the big dips and turns.

They went down the midway and into the freak shows. They saw the babies in the incubators, and the Barrett girls had something to say to that which flushed the fair skin of the visiting Britisher and caused him to chuckle under his breath. They ate hot dogs and drank soda pop. And they came to a shooting gallery.

PRESENTLY they had it all to themselves—Lord Robert and Bruce against the Barrett twins and Julie. Pat refused to shoot. He was bored; he hadn't had a moment alone with Julie.

"My game is craps," he murmured disconsolately, and stood aside to watch his friend, himself as good as a shot as any.

The twins shot well, but erratically. Julie was Julie of the North Woods, and Lord Robert had been brought up with a gun in his hand. Bruce was fair—neither good nor bad. But after a time it became apparent that this amateur belonged to Julie and not to her. The Barrett twins laid aside the guns that were a little too heavy for them, and the Britisher said to Julie:

"You show us how," and meant it. After a brilliant performance directed at a swinging bull's-eye and round small wooden ducks which floated up and down in the water, she took a shot at the clay targets. After that it was a question of reloading.

When she was tired, she laid her gun aside, and the shooting-gallery man said, a little awed: "You've won the rifle, Miss."

"That rifle?"

The Barrett twins snorted excitedly.

"It's there—in large type!" they informed her, and pointed to the sign reading, "Thirteen lights out of 15, or 75 consecutive pigeons, wins a rifle."

The shooting-gallery man was gallant. "Lots of ladies shoot here," he told Julie, "and do pretty good. But I never seen one like you. It's a pleasure to give you the rifle."

He handed her the prize with something of a flourish. At that, it was a pretty fair little gun. Julie took it, turned to discover a gaping and pressing crowd, and presently walked off, the gun in the crook of her arm, her sables thrown back, and her free stride causing the throng of passers-by to give her leg-room.

LORD ROBERT said, in admiring amazement: "I'd not like to be the chap to get in your black book. You're too good a shot."

She laughed and turned to Bruce, in her eyes a child's eagerness to be praised by someone she loved.

"You're a wonder," he told her sincerely, and the Barrett twins asked, pressing forward:

"We thought we were good. How did you learn?"

"My dad—we used to throw bottles out in the lake when it was stormy and shoot at them for practice," Julie told them.

Historic Gowns at the Opera

Elaborate Dresses Once Owned by Mrs. Ogden Golet of New York Now Worn in the Final Act of "Three Little Girls."

—By Marguerite Martyn—

GOWNS that have curtsied before two kings and two queens at Buckingham palace, gowns that have graced the Diamond Horseshoe at the Metropolitan Opera, gowns that have led the parade of fashion at the smartest American and European resorts, gowns that have been perfectly at home in a marble palace at Newport and a castle in Scotland are being worn again by the feminine cast of the Municipal Opera this week to show us what was the height of fashion in the Gay Nineties and early 1900s. They are gowns purchased by a New York costumeur from the estate of the late Mrs. Ogden Golet when some of her belongings were being disposed of by her daughter, the Duchess of Roxburghe, a year or more ago, and later acquired by the Shuberts for the last act of their production of "Three Little Girls."

What tales these costumes might tell of grandees they have rubbed elbows with, of splendid scenes where they have been part of the scenery, of triumphs they have achieved in sartorial contests entered by the most fashionable dressmakers of their day.

On their adventures they must remain mute, but they become articulate records of a period in fashion's history which, however history in dress is inclined to repeat itself, probably never will know its like again.

Certainly present wearers of the costumes as they successively emancipated bodies into 15-inch waists, draping limbs in silks and satins stiff enough to stand alone and cumbersome their ankles in voluminous lace ruffles, are loud in declaration of their hopes that such styles never will occur again.

It is to wonder how ladies of wealth and power and influence such as Mrs. Golet undoubtedly was, a beauty and heiress in her own right, a leader of society in New York, Paris and London, with a daughter who became a Duchess, a daughter who became Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, another who married Lord Michael Herbert and a brother who married an Astor, ever needed to bow her neck to the tyranny of such fashions. But undoubtedly most cheerfully she did.

BOWED is hardly the word. Her neck was held upright in tall whalebone collars. In the comparative freedom of evening dress her body was encased first in steel and bone ribbed corsets, then in canvas linings of a quality warranted not to give reinforced with whalebones and fastened with iron hooks strong enough for ships' derricks. The whalebones have been ripped from the bodices now and the girls are not required to wear corsets nor other underpinning, but it takes four strong hands to hook some of the slenderest figures into these straitjackets.

Strange and wonderful are the under sides of the skirts, too. Fastened to bolts of heavy stout cord or ribbon which have several rows of hooks for security's sake, hang two skirts, the under one of taffeta with three or more wide ruffles, the outer one of several widths of gros grain or satin of a thickness and stiffness such as we never see nowadays except in upholstery materials. These are lined throughout with silk upon which are stitched several dust ruffles and they are interlined part way up with hair-cloth, sometimes made firmer at the edge with a facing of buckram and maybe a cord. At each seam of the several back widths underneath are ribbons which when tied produce the organ pipe gored effect. One sketched at the left is worn by Miss Dimples Biede of the ensemble. Though severe in outline its bodice and skirt are embellished with a rococo scroll pattern done in black sequins and rhinestone beads. This is one of the 1890 costumes.

Another of the same period, a presentation gown worn first at the court of Edward the Seventh, now worn by Miss Nancy McCord, is even more simple in outline but made of fabulous ivory satin brocaded in a huge floral pattern.

It is interesting to note the rigid silhouette giving way to a flatter one in the 1900's when lace was the order of the day, as illustrated by a costume in the sketch worn by Miss Baxter. It is another presentation gown worn first at the court of George V. It is built more on the straight front corseted lines of satin brocade, with pearls in long stems and leaves ending in fleur de lys, cut out over a lavish ruffle of duchesse lace, whose pattern also is outlined and overlaid with rows of pearls.

There were enough of these costumes, 54 trunks full of them in the Fifth Avenue mansion and at Ochre Court, the Newport villa of Mrs. Golet, to clothe this entire cast and others besides which have been worn out and discarded in previous productions of the opera. And it is said 150 more trunks full of this lady's apparel awaited disposal in London.

Probably no stage costumes reproducing a bygone period ever were so authentic. Not a piece of lace, fabric or other material but is the very best and richest hand and loom and artifice could produce. Not a line or detail but had the approval of the most accomplished couturiers of Paris in their day.

All were in perfect state of preservation when rediscovered, probably never having been worn more than a time or two. They afford a remarkable review of one period of fashions that have gone, we may hope, but not too confidently, never to return.

ACCORDION pleated chiffon panels overlap at the front and the entire gown is lined with accordion pleated chiffon. A simple, artless little thing contrasted with the lounging pajamas of our bold bad days, is it not?

On the right of the sketch you see a spectator-sports costume which probably set the pace for all that was daring at Saratoga or Longchamps race courses. It is of heavy ecru linen made with a circular skirt five yards around and sweeping the ground built over a drop skirt of white taffeta and faced with dust ruffles of the same. An Eton jacket, likewise lined with silk has facings and lapels of hand embroidered tulle done in metal and silk threads on heavy corded silk. Round the jacket are rows of gold soutache braid and there is a wide boned collar of gold ribbon. Nice and cool for a summer day! The lingerie blouse of Val lace and tucked

There were enough of these costumes, 54 trunks full of them in the Fifth Avenue mansion and at Ochre Court, the Newport villa of Mrs. Golet, to clothe this entire cast and others besides which have been worn out and discarded in previous productions of the opera. And it is said 150 more trunks full of this lady's apparel awaited disposal in London.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Jumbled Words

"I'VE turned the time back for our adventure this evening," the Little Black Clock commenced, "and we're going to see some very strange writing. Come along!"

"The alphabet has been in use for some time," the Clock said, "but I've turned the time back to the fourteenth century, and you will see how they use the alphabet and the words."

Then John and Peggy saw some children doing their lessons and writing sentences such as these: "Tseetheprettycatsonthefloor." "Thedogisafriendlyanimalandwantstolovehim." "Thehorseliketohelpthemanallhe can."

"I can't make anything of it," said Peggy.

"It's like a puzzle," said John. Then they noticed some more of this writing.

"Hidomylessongcangoandplay." "Treceivedagoodmarkformylessontoday."

"Oh, I see now!" shouted John. "They don't divide the words. They write them all together without any spaces in between the words the way we write them."

"That's it," exclaimed the Little Black Clock. "You've guessed correctly. It will not be until a century later that they will use punctuation, and for many many years after the alphabet was used they did not use spaces between the words."

"Isn't it queer!" exclaimed Peggy.

But now they read all the sentences they saw being written by these children. They decided they were glad that the ways of writing had changed, but it was just like doing puzzles to read these jumbled words.

41 BOOKMAKERS
TO PLEAD GUILTY AND TAKE FINES

Circuit Attorney Miller Consents to Substitute Misdemeanor for Felony Charge Against Each.

$10,250 WILL GO TO SCHOOL BOARD

Official Announces Future
Gambling Cases Are Not Affected and Each Will Stand on Merits.

An agreement was made public today between Circuit Attorney Miller and a lawyer for 41 alleged bookmakers, accused of being custodians of bets whereby the defendants will plead guilty to lesser charges and be fined $250 each, a total of $10,250.

Acting as custodian of a bet is a felony punishable by a prison term of two to five years. The defendants, however, will plead guilty of keeping a common gaming house, a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $200 to $1000.

Circuit Attorney Miller, who reached the agreement with William Baer, lawyer for the bookmakers, after a conference with Circuit Judge Ryan, before whom men were scheduled to plead guilty today, explained the new plan would relieve the courts and the Circuit Attorney's office of the case and would provide additional revenue. All of the money will go to the Board of Education.

The agreement, Miller said, applies only to eight cases pending in Judge Ryan's court, 10 awaiting trial before Circuit Judge Green, and 23 pending in the Circuit Attorney's office, which have not been presented to the grand jury.

Miller said the agreement would not affect any cases which might be presented later and would not prejudice his right to consider all future cases on their merits and ask for any penalty he sees fit.

Immediately after announcement of the agreement, the first two defendants, Adrian Howe and Harry Ziercher, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge and were fined $250 each. Howe, who operated a handbook at 506 North Taylor avenue, was arrested Aug. 16, 1930, after a collection made a bet of $1. Mack Ziercher, whose handbooks were at 403 North Fifteenth street, was arrested July 18, 1930.

Miller said that a bill to reduce the penalty for handbook betting was introduced in the State Legislature during the current session and failed of passage. In reality, he said, the handbook operators, accepting fines of $250, are paying heavier penalties than they could if the bill had passed.

In bookmaking circles today it was pointed out that the method of penalizing bookmakers is followed in the future. It virtually will constitute taxation of handbooks.

GRADUATE SHOT TO DEATH
AS HE PACKS TO GO HOME

Safe Man, Wounded, Says Pistol Went Off Accidentally in Berea College Dormitory.

Berea, Ky., June 2.—Leonard Martin, 21 years old, who was graduated from the academic department of Berea College yesterday, was killed and William Bowan, 23, restaurant proprietor, was wounded in Prospect Hall, a men's dormitory here, today.

Martin was packing up to leave for his home at Wilton, Ky., and Bowan said he was examining a pistol at it was accidentally discharged. The bullet passed through his hand and struck Martin in the stomach. College authorities refused to discuss the shooting pending the Coroner's inquest. Bowan was not hurt.

He termed the shooting perfectly accidental, and said he had gone to Martin's room after talking to several students on the campus.

OLSTEAD ACT FINGERPRINTING

Practice Adopted in Massachusetts to Keep Tab on Offenders.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 2.—The Federal Government today began the taking of fingerprints of Olvstead act violators penalized by Judge James A. Lowell in the federal court with penalties of a full sentence or probation.

The Government believes that in this way they will be able to keep closer watch on all probationers and others who have been sentenced to jail.

Pershing Guest of Doumer.

PARIS, June 2.—Gen. Pershing was the guest of President-elect Doumer today at the little Luxembourg palace. Ambassador Edge, Minister of War Maginot, Henry Brenger, former French Ambassador to the United States, Gen. Foyatier and Gen. Gouraud also were present.
